CHANCE OF FRIENDLY SEQUEL TO VATICAN-ITALY FUSS REMOTE

ROME, June 5.—Dark pessimism pervaded the Vatican today on the chances for an immediate and amicable settlement of its differences with the Italian government.

Negotiations, which were to have been reopened today after a "truce" to observe yesterday's religious holiday, were feared to have suffered a severe setback by the announced determination of the Fascist party directorate not to "tolerate the political activities of the Azione Cattolica," lay church organization.

The directorate's ruling that all students in the secondary schools under 18 years of age must belong exclusively to the Fascist Vanguard or pioneers will prove a stumbling block in the path of further peace moves, it was believed by church officials. The edict was considered tantamount to prohibition of membership in Catholic youth organizations and was expected to remove any chances for a compromise.

Despite the fact that all of Catholic Italy was commemorating the feast of Corpus Christi, Pope Pius XI received Monsignor Borgognini-Duca, papal nuncio to the quinal and Marquis Pacelli, counselor general of the Vatican state, to obtain complete reports of the directorate's meeting.

Italy, however, obeyed the pope's mandate that the day be commemorated without the annual show of parades and processions. All festivals in honor of the holiday were cancelled and church services only were held. Most of the priests even refrained from delivering customary sermons.

Although negotiations were held likely to continue from where they left off on Wednesday, no announcement was expected. Both the Vatican and the government have been silent regarding the progress of their diplomatic conferences and probably will maintain that secrecy until they are concluded one way or another.

However, the church still awaited a reply to its two notes of protest over recent fascist outbreaks in the country, during which churches, institutions and Catholics were attacked. The notes charged a breach of the Vatican treaty of 1929 and the concordat and asked for apologies and reparations.

HIS SHIP CAME IN

"God is my friend," says Joseph Kennedy, a West Indian, of Boston, snapped after he had won $150,000 as a result of his winning lottery ticket on Cameronian, the horse that captured the famous English Derby at Epsom Downs. Kennedy is a man of odd jobs and has a wife and three children in Jamaica. He is not disturbed by the assertion of another Joseph Kennedy of London who claims he won the $150,000, for the Boston man has his ticket in a Boston bank.

ARGENTINE GOLFER CONTINUES TO LEAD BRITISH OPEN PLAY

Sets Fast Pace With 73 Early Friday To Take Lead

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 5.—Jose Jurado, brilliant young Argentine professional playing his first year of major competition golf, carded a seventy-three on the morning round of the British open golf championship tournament today, to wrest the lead from MacDonald Smith and Arthur Hovers. Jurado had a grand total of 220 for the fifty-four holes played. Mac Smith, shooting a sizzling seventy-one for a total of 223, was tied in second place at that figure by Arthur Hovers, star British performer, who had a seventy-two today.

Farrell, Sarazen and Kirkwood of the American contingent were bunched close behind the leaders, Farrell with 75-224; Kirkwood with 77-227 and Sarazen with 75-225.

The prince of Wales accompanied young Jurado most of his round and witnessed some of the finest copy-book golf seen on these links during the present tournament. The wind had died down by the time Jurado went to the tee, and the course was considerably easier than it had been for the early flights.

Jurado was deadly accurate with his drives and approaches, and his putter functioned with unerring aim. Jurado's card: Jurado—Out—444 445 434-36 Jurado—in—445 344 445-37-73-220

Coming home Jurado's drive found a bunker on the 12th, but he got out easily. He should have had a two on the 13th, but the putt refused to stay down. He finished the round in par figures, playing safely and conservatively.

This tiny Scotch town was en fête today and its streets were flagged as hundreds came from all parts of Scotland and England to witness today's play. The Prince of Wales was one of the first arrivals, but departed almost immediately toward the Barry course to play a game before joining the huge gallery.

The weather was warmer than for several days, the sun shining brilliantly with a freshening wind blowing.

HAM FOR PRESIDENT

CHICAGO, June 5.—United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis today had the endorsement of Mayor Anton J. Cermak and the Chicago Democratic organization for nomination for the presidency next year.

REVIVE LIGHT CONTROVERSY

GERMAN AGENTS ASK HELP FROM BRITISH OVER REPARATIONS

Little Hope Seen As Conferences For Aid Begin

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., June 5.—Carrying with them German hopes for a "new deal" in the matter of war debts and reparations, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and Dr. Julius Curtius of Germany arrived here today aboard the liner Hamburg for a series of conferences with Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson.

The meetings will take place at Chequers, country residence of the British premier.

While all concerned insist the conferences will be of a private and unofficial nature, the opinion prevailed that issues of utmost importance to the economic and financial situation of Europe would be discussed in detail at the meetings.

LONDON, June 5.—Disillusioned in their hopes for British aid in reparations revision, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and Foreign Minister Dr. Julius Curtius of Germany arrived in England today.

During their conversations with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson at Chequers, the German statesmen were expected to present facts and figures designed to show Germany has no course but to seek some sort of immediate relief from the burden of reparations.

It was learned the visitors will tell of the necessity for declaring a moratorium involving cessation of transfer of the condition part of the Young plan.

The money will continue to be raised in Germany, but under Brüning's plan, will not be transferred to the creditor nations.

It was understood Brüning and Curtius had virtually abandoned hope of British sponsorship of the so-called "Henderson plan," under which Germany was to propose a flat thirty per cent cut in the reparations schedule as provided for under the Young plan.

This reduction was to have been based on the decline in commodity prices since the Young plan was drawn up.

Despite the unwillingness of the British government to stand sponsor for this sweeping proposal, there was some talk in British circles of joint European representations to the United States on the entire reparations and war debt questions. It was believed more likely, however, that Europe as a whole would force Germany to take the initiative and give the other nations reason for appealing to America.

The British press extended a somewhat frosty reception to the German statesmen. The general opinion appeared to be that Britain could not countenance reduction of reparations unless the United States first agreed to reduce or cancel the war debts.

"The meeting at Chequers," said the London Evening Standard, "will be merely another milestone on the road of international postponement."

KILLS TWO AND ENDS OWN LIFE

ROUND LAKE, N. Y., June 5.—Unrequited love was held responsible for a double killing and a suicide at a farm home near this village today.

Clyde Clemens, a middle aged painter, shot and killed Grace DeWitt, 19, killed her uncle, Gordon DeWitt, 56, and then fired a bullet through his own brain. She had repulsed his attentions, police were told.

Clemens, the father of five children, lived at Maitaville, a short distance from the DeWitt home.

Armed with a revolver, Clemens early today went to the DeWitt home and demanded to see the DeWitt girl, who formerly was a student nurse at the Lepard Hospital at Troy.

FIND BONDS IN JAR

CROWN POINT, Ind., June 5.—Three quart jars of Liberty bonds, valued at $17,150 and a fourth quart of dynamite were in possession of Harry Schetzel, secret service operative, from Chicago today. Mrs. Roy Cool, living at Lake Village, Ind., found them buried on her husband's farm and brought them here to authorities. Judging from the unclipped coupons the bonds have been buried for about eight years.

FALLS WHILE ASLEEP

COLUMBUS, O., June 5.—While walking in his sleep here today, John Maher, 40, fell from an upstairs porch to the ground and fractured his skull. He was in a critical condition at a local hospital as a result.

Twenty - Seven Graduate At Cedarville College

Degrees were conferred upon and diplomas awarded to twenty-seven graduates of Cedarville College at the thirty-fifth annual commencement Friday morning at the Cedarville Opera House.

The Rev. William L. McEwan, D. D., LL. D., pastor of Third Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the board of trustees of Princeton Theological Seminary and former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, delivered the commencement address.

Preceding the exercises, a procession which included members of the graduating class attired in caps and gowns, college trustees, the college faculty and ministers having a part on the program, formed at Carnegie Library and marched to the Opera House. Two juniors, Robert Collins and Wilda Auld, headed the procession.

The exercises opened with the invocation by the Rev. Thomas Reed Turner, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Quincy, Mass., a graduate of the college with the class of 1899, whose son, Brenton Turner, was a member of the graduating class this year.

Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of the college, gave his farewell address to the seniors, conferred the degrees and presented the diplomas to the graduates.

The program was interspersed with music furnished by a trio from Xenia. The exercises closed with the benediction pronounced by Chaplain G. La Clede Markle of the U. S. Navy.

The Opera House was attractively decorated in the college and senior class colors and members of the junior class acted as ushers.

Honorary degrees of doctor of divinity were conferred upon two ministers, the Rev. William H. Kendall, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church in Indianapolis, Ind., and the Rev. Ernest McClellan, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church in Rochester, N. Y., a brother of Earl McClellan, of Greene County.

The college conferred the master of arts degree upon two students, the bachelor of arts degree with the four-year provisional high school certificate upon sixteen seniors, the bachelor of science in education degree and the four-year high school certificate upon two graduates, presented the two-year normal diploma to the seniors, conferred the degrees and presented the diplomas to the graduates.

MECHANICS BUSY ON LINDBERGH PLANE; FLYER PLANS TRIP

Date Of Start Not Set; Pontoons Are Attached

NEW YORK, June 5.—Mechanics today worked on the monoplane in which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh, the former Anne Morrow, will fly the Pacific.

Lindbergh's plane is being fitted with pontoons and otherwise prepared for the long flight. It will not be ready for the start of the jaunt for several days and no definite time for the take-off has been made.

Colonel Lindbergh was expected to reveal the course he has mapped out and other details of the journey today.

The Lindberghs, it was said, may follow the great circle course to the Pacific coast from here, crossing the boundary line of the United States into Vancouver or perhaps going as far north as Alaska, Alaska. From New York to northern Minnesota they would be flying largely over lakes, which would be suitable for emergency landings with the pontoon-equipped plane.

Both American and Soviet Russia flyers have crossed the Pacific by the northern route, which is to be attempted by the Lindberghs. The first crossing was made in the western direction by the army round-the-world flyers in 1924 in command of Lieutenant Lowell Smith.

The second, in an easterly direction, was made by Russian flyers in a Soviet-built plane in 1929.

The army flyers, departing from Seattle, skirted the coast of British Columbia and of Alaska and from Seward, Alaska, they turned toward the southwest, following the Alaska Peninsula and the long arm of the Aleutian Islands, which separates the North Pacific from the Bering Sea.

The flight across the north Pacific is beset with dangers. Storms prevail throughout all the summer months.

Lieutenant Smith described the flight as most difficult. In May the army flyers found snow and high winds in that section and they hit snow and sleet and fog almost all the way in the vicinity of the Kurile Islands. Weather conditions are better in mid-summer than in spring, although dangerous disturbances are recurrent.

NONOGENARIAN DIES

MARYSVILLE, O., June 5.—Mrs. Mary L. Massie, 90, said to be one of the oldest women in Union County, was dead at her home here today from paralysis.

BOY, PAGE GANDHI!

NEW YORK, June 5.—When Mahatma Gandhi, who lives on a couple of cents worth of rice and curry a day, hears what happened in New York last night, perhaps he will carefully adjust his glasses and say: "Tss, tss!" then again he may just say: "Dear, dear, dear!"

Fifty, 150 persons paid $6 each to attend a banquet in Gandhi's honor, to express "America's good wishes for the success of his undertaking in achieving India's independence."

Speeches by Justice Daniel F. Cohan, Upton Close, Major Eugene F. Kincaid and Sallen-drath Ghose were broadcast locally and also on a short-wave station. Gandhi probably did not listen in, as he does not own a radio.

AIDS COMMUNISTS

BIG AIR LINER CROSSES OCEAN

FERNANDO DO NORONHA, Brazil, June 5.—Take-off of the giant German seaplane DO-X for the Brazilian mainland after its successful flight across the Atlantic was somewhat delayed today by the arduous task of filling the air liner's huge gasoline tanks.

The choppy surface of the sea made the refueling a difficult job. Originally scheduled to leave at 6 a. m., the DO-X now is not expected to be able to hop until 10 a. m. (9 a. m. E. D. T.).

NEW DIRECTOR OF BOY SCOUT REGION

COLUMBUS, O., June 5.—Arrangements were being made today to transfer regional headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America from Columbus to Akron, O., following the appointment of D. M. Ramsey of Akron as director of Region 4, comprising Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, and Kentucky. Ramsey succeeds Perry A. Lint of Columbus, who has assumed similar duties in Chicago. His appointment became effective June 1.

PROMINENT EDUCATORS SEND PROTEST OF MILLER DISMISSAL

NEW YORK, June 5.—Protest against the dismissal of Herbert A. Miller, professor of sociology at the University of Ohio, because of "his teachings on the relations of the races" was made in a letter sent yesterday to the president and trustees of the university by twenty-nine prominent educators.

The letter declared Miller's dismissal was a "striking disregard of sound educational policy and a ruthless attack on the principals of academic freedom." Among the educators signing the protest were sixteen Columbia University professors and ten from New York University.

In a statement explaining Miller's dismissal, President George W. Rightmire of the University of Ohio criticized speeches made by the professor while on a trip to the Orient in 1929-30. In a Bombay speech Miller voiced sympathy with the Gandhi movement and while delivering an address in Korea he was escorted from a public meeting by Japanese police for discussing matters forbidden by Japanese authorities.

PETITIONERS SEEK TO COMPEL SPECIAL ELECTION ON ISSUE

Mandamus City To Force Calling Of Referendum Vote

The electric franchise controversy, which has been dormant for the last few weeks, was revived Friday by the group supporting the proposition of the Citizen's Public Service Co., subsidiary of Fairbanks, Morse and Co.

The latest development is the filing of a mandamus suit in Common Pleas Court seeking to compel City Commission to take steps to submit to the voters at a special referendum election three ordinances passed by the commission March 12, granting the Xenia electric franchise and light and power contracts to the Dayton Power and Light Co.

Plaintiffs in the action, who brought the suit in the name of the state of Ohio, are William H. Donges, George Eckler, George D. Geyer, L. E. John and Dr. J. R. McCormick.

Declaring themselves to be electors and beneficially interested in the questions involved in the suit, the plaintiffs assert they constitute the committee of five named to represent the interests of the signers of three petitions filed with City Commission last April 1 and 6, demanding a referendum election on the three ordinances granted the D. P. and L. Co.

These petitions, it is set forth, were each signed by more than the required 10 per cent of the electors and were filed less than thirty days after the electric franchise ordinances were passed. The committee argues that it became a mandatory duty for the commission, under provisions of the state constitution, to adopt ordinances providing for submission of the original three ordinances to a referendum vote of the people at a special election to be called not less than sixty days nor more than 120 days later.

Pointing out that the minimum sixty-day period has already expired and that the 120-day maximum period will expire July 10, the plaintiffs declare that City Commission has refused to take any further action on their petitions and declines to arrange for a referendum election.

The plaintiffs seek a writ of peremptory mandamus ordering the commission to adopt the desired ordinances, specifying a date not later than July 10 for holding a special election at which the three D. P. and L. Co. ordinances will be voted upon at the same time. Attorney C. L. Darlington represents the petitioners.

City Commission has taken the stand that its hands are tied in the matter under terms of a temporary restraining order granted three weeks ago in Common Pleas Court in an injunction suit brought by the D. P. and L. Co. H. A. Higgins, as clerk of the commission, was temporarily enjoined from certifying the demand filed with him for a referendum election, city officials say.

MANY RETURNED TO FACTORY PAYROLL

NEWARK, O., June 5.—One hundred men have been added to the payroll of the Pharis Tire and Rubber Co. here as a result of large orders received recently, officials of the concern stated today. The company is now employing 600 and working day and night in three shifts.

Officials express the belief that the increased production would continue for some time.

YOUTH NEAR DEATH

ZANESVILLE, O., June 5.—The condition of Herman Getter, 18, who was injured by the accidental discharge of a French 75-MM cannon during a celebration opening all-Ohio Scout day here yesterday, was reported as critical today. The youth had one eye blown out and his body was badly burned by the flare of the gun which was to have fired a salute of recognition to the more than 1,000 Boy Scouts gathered here.

BISHOP SUES SOLON

Suit for $500,000 damages against Representative George H. Tinkham, below, of Massachusetts, has been filed in the District of Columbia supreme court at Washington by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., top. The suit is based on a speech Tinkham made in the house of representatives charging Cannon with misappropriating campaign funds during the last presidential campaign. The bishop dared the congressman to repeat the speech outside of the house. Tinkham did.

POWER TRUST PROBE WILL REQUIRE YEAR BEFORE COMPLETED

Ramifications Of Utilities Delays Commission

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The "power trust" investigation of the Federal Trade Commission has disclosed so many ramifications in the giant utility holding companies it will be fully a year before the commission has completed its work, it was learned authoritatively today.

While it is possible a preliminary report may be made to congress next winter, because of demands in congress for legislation, it is declared the end of the inquiry is not in sight.

At least three major utility groups remain to be investigated by the commission. These include the vast Insull interests in the middle west, the Byllesby group and the Associated Gas and Electric System.

The Insull group, headed by Samuel and Martin Insull, may be considered soon, it was indicated. Commission experts expect fireworks when they tangle with these two utility magnates, both of whom have actively taken up the cudgel against congressional critics of "power trust" operations.

Having finished its inquiry into the $800,000,000 North American Company, the commission today suspended public hearings for at least two weeks.

A new field of inquiry was opened up by the examiners' reports on the North American Company, which is expected to be pursued when the Insull group is reached.

In at least two instances, commission examiners reported, the North American Company had joined hands with other powerful utilities to avoid competition, duplication and rivalry and to effect economies.

Judge Robert E. Healy, chief counsel for the commission, indicated he was vitally interested in the extent to which even billion dollar utility companies have pooled territory and properties to suppress competition.

In one instance, it was found the North American Company and the Insull interests had joined hands in obtaining control of the North American Light and Power Company.

The latter company operated properties contiguous to those of the other two in the middle west, both were anxious to expand and each wanted the North American Light and Power. In the end each took an approximate 40 per cent interest in it.

This ended the possibility of competition in a vast field in the middle west from St. Louis to Milwaukee, it was declared.

NAUTILUS ON FIRST LEG OF ADVENTURE; LONDON FIRST STOP

Due Under Icecap Of Arctic July 10-15 Wilkins Says

BOSTON, June 5.—The submarine Nautilus, on the first leg of her great adventure to go under the ice cap at the North Pole, was running at reduced speed along the forty-second parallel today on her approximately 3,500 mile voyage across the Atlantic from Provincetown to London.

A diagram from the coastguard cutter Portchartrain to Easton district coastguard headquarters said:

"9 a. m. E. D. T. latitude 42-09; longitude 69-00; conveying Nautilus; good weather."

At coast guard headquarters it was estimated that the position of the Nautilus was fifty miles east of Cape Cod light. At 9 a. m. the submarine had covered approximately seventy miles since pushing off from Provincetown at 11:20 o'clock last night. At this rate it was estimated that the submarine was plowing the waves at a speed of approximately eight knots per hour, having cut down from her average of ten knots per hour.

It was presumed at coastguard headquarters that the Nautilus was conserving fuel to be ready for any blow that might come up. However, the submarine had enough fuel oil to carry her 5,000 miles. She was expected to arrive in London nine days hence. There was food enough aboard to last Sir Hubert Wilkins and his eighteen companions for eighteen months.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Off at last on her epic voyage to the north pole, the submarine Nautilus was at sea today.

With Sir Hubert Wilkins, commander of the expedition, Captain Sloan Denhower and seventeen others on board, the iron whale set out on her trip across the Atlantic, the first leg of the long cruise, shortly before midnight last night from Provincetown, Mass.

The Nautilus planned to move as far north as Halifax before actually starting across the Atlantic to London, where British scientists will inspect the craft before it leaves for the North Pole.

Sir Hubert said that if difficulty were encountered in crossing the Atlantic and considerable time lost he would strike directly for Bergen, Norway, where the final stores and Arctic gear for the expedition will be taken on board.

The speed of the submarine is about eleven knots and she would not be able to reach Land's End, England, much before June 20 or 25. She is due to dive under the Arctic ice cap about July 10 or 15. The course to be followed by the undersea craft to England covers more than 2,500 miles.

Final tests given the craft with its superstructure above a scarlet steel hull, showed it was ready and fit for the long trip, Sir Hubert said prior to the takeoffs.

There was hardly a dry eye in the Opera House last night at the performance of Mrs. Henry Wood's stirring play, "East Lynne," by a company of Little Theater Guild players and the show was put down by those who know as one of the best that has visited our fair city for some time and the management is to be congratulated for having brought this accomplished company of gentlemanly actors and lady-like actresses to our city. (Try whistling that sentence through your teeth—Ed.) The shameful conduct of the villain, Sir Francis Levison, a deep-deyed arch-criminal if there ever was one; the unhappy frustrations that beset the life of the sweet-mannered heroine, Lady Isabel; the tragic and heart-rending death of the poor lady's little son, Little Willie and the stoic patience with which Archibald Carlyle accepted the harsh blows a cruel fate had in store for him, wrenched at the heart-strings of a large audience that left the theater convinced that life holds many tragedies in store for those who disobey the laws or are too easily swayed by jealousy and other ills that beset the human flesh. Only when the black-hearted villain was led away in chains by a police officer, leaving the long-suffering principals to seek happiness anew, did the audience find the moral that dastardly conduct does not pay and that the long arm of the law will reach out and enmesh those who defy the conventions. The scene of the play opens at East Lynne which Mr. Carlyle, a lawyer, has purchased and where he takes his bride, Lady Isabel, the only daughter of the Earl, Lord Mount Severn, an aristocrat of the first water. Miss Cornelia Carlyle, sister of Mr. Carlyle, a snappish old maid, from the beginning renders Lady Isabel very miserable by her interference in domestic matters. Miss Barbara Hare was long secretly attached to Mr. Carlyle. Her brother Richard is a fugitive from justice, having been accused of murder. He returns secretly and has an interview with Barbara, who gets Mr. Carlyle to loan him money. Sir Francis Levison, an unprincipled villain, instills into Lady Isabel's mind the belief that her husband is unfaithful to her; in proof of this he leads her where she may witness the interview between Carlyle and Barbara Hare. Maddened with jealousy Lady Isabel elopes with Levison. He deserts her and her child. She is reported as dead, but returns to East Lynne, disguised as a governess. She witnesses the death of her son William, and herself dies in the presence of Barbara, now Mrs. Carlyle, and her husband. The show was acted very well by the company, whose enunciation and rhetorical gestures bespoke the ability of these performers, who came here direct from New York City and Boston. Although there were five acts and fourteen scenes the audience did not note the passage of time except for the passing of a steam locomotive and cars which interrupted the astonished players momentarily and recalled the indignation expressed here recently by Walker Whiteside when a dramatic speech was cut off by similar noise. Corinne Mason, who acted the part of Lady Isabel gave a splendid and highly dramatic and touching rendition of the part. I. Macklin Hyman as the villain was hissed vigorously by the audience although it is said this young man, with his patent-leather hair, curled moustache and oily manners, is in reality a very gentlemanly young fellow and not at all like the dastard he played on the stage. Fred D. Snyder was letter-perfect in his role as Archibald Carlyle, Helen E. Hurley was sweet and assured as Barbara Hare, George H. Thorne as Lord Mount Severn gave a splendid character portrayal and has a voice reminiscent of Frederick Warde. Myrtle J. Poague was delightful as Miss Carlyle and the audience laughed roundly at her antics, glad of the relief from the heavy emotional strain of the deeper moments of the play. E. Dawson Smith, Harry A. Higgins, Alice R. Ruthrauff, Elizabeth Hardy and Peter Shagin carried off small parts well and Little Jean Mason wrung many a tear in departing this life as Little Willie. After the modern manner, the audience entered into the spirit of the play and soundly hissed the villain while applauding the principals on every entrance and exit. The play bore evidences of careful direction by Eleanor Kiernan and Katherine Farrell and between acts a duo composed of Miss Juanita Rankin at the pianoforte and young Marcus Shoup, a fiddler of considerable promise, played many pretty pieces. It was of much relief that the coal oil footlight lamps did not smoke badly although the night was warm and sticky. The audience was pleased with a handsome new curtain painted very artistically by Helen Kennedy and Archer Maxwell, two of our more promising young artists. Colonel Harry A. Higgins announced very elegantly between acts that the play would be repeated tonight and that the company will present "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Saturday night at popular prices. This piece written in a spirit of reminiscence by ONE WHO WAS THERE—R. A. H.

was considered of importance. It was understood that a decision had been reached to continue with negotiations instead of breaking abruptly with the government, as it was feared might happen.

The newspaper war in the Italian capital between the Osservatore Romano and the Fascist publications remained dormant yesterday as the church organ was not published because of the holiday. However, copies of the pope's speech, attacking the Fascists, were distributed to all who entered the churches. The speech did not appear in the newspapers on Saturday, when it was made.

The government allowed the Y. M. C. A. in Florence and Lucca to reopen today, after they joined the Fascist movement. The playgrounds maintained by American Knights of Columbus continued closed.

ROME, June 5.—A decidedly conciliatory attitude on the part of the Fascists toward the Roman Catholic Church was indicated today by an article in the semi-official newspaper Popolo d'Italia dealing with the conflict over the dissolution of Catholic young people's organizations.

"Deplorable excesses do not constitute persecution," declared the article, which was signed by Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the Italian premier.

"After all," the article continued, "only some sections of the Azzione

Cattolica (Catholic action) require elimination.

"By repudiation of excesses in an atmosphere of sincerity the sun of concord can shine again."

Meanwhile, the government pursued its policy of permitting youth organizations to resume operations if their members joined the Fascist movement. The Y. M. C. A. branches in Florence and Lucca were allowed to reopen but the Knights of Columbus playgrounds remained closed pending solution of the differences between the Vatican and the Fascist authorities.

The pope held another lengthy conference today with Monsignor Borgognini-Duca, Papal Nuncio to Italy, at which the latest phases of the Italo-Vatican clash were discussed in detail.

Fashion Revival Seen At "East Lynne" Here

QUITE charming and quaint were the gowns of several Xenia women who attended the Xenia Little Theater Guild's presentation of "East Lynne" at the Xenia Opera House Thursday evening. Gowns were of the 1860 period in keeping with the setting of the melodrama.

Mrs. Lawrence Shields wore a gown of white satin trimmed in pale blue satin and net. It was made with the long, full, hooped skirt and a low neckline. Her costume was completed with a pair of white lace mitts. Mrs. Finley Torrence's gown was made over the same lines and was of green and white flowered taffeta. Miss Juanita Rankin wore a gown of pink taffeta trimmed in blue. It was made quite long and full with a train in the back. The neckline was low and the sleeves were short and puffed.

GRADUATION DAYS RECALLED BY CLUB.

Nineteen members and seven guests of the Cedrine Club met at the home of Miss Martha Crawford, W. Market St., Thursday afternoon. Following a short business session Mrs. Richard McClelland sang two solos.

The main part of the program was presented by several members who reviewed their graduation from Cedarville High School. Several souvenirs were displayed including programs, pictures, invitations, costumes and gifts. One member displayed her bouquet which she had used and later pressed following her graduation twenty-nine years ago. Several members made comparisons of the manner of graduation exercises between the years 1876 and 1907.

The Crawford home was decorated with bouquets of peonies and roses and after the program a refreshment course was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. D. L. Crawford.

PIATT-RECTOR NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED WEDNESDAY.

In a simple impressive ceremony Miss Hazel Mae Rector, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rector, east of Xenia, was united in marriage to Mr. Virgil Piatt, Cleveland, Wednesday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the M. E. Church parsonage in New Jasper with the Rev. J. C. Stitzel officiating at the single ring service.

The couple's attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Mary Rector and Mr. Warren Middleton. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Piatt went to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding dinner was served. They left Thursday morning for their new home in Cleveland.

TO RECEIVE MUSIC DEGREE SOON

MISS RUBY O'BRYANT

Miss Ruby O'Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Bryant, Jamestown, who is studying violin with the famous Polish artist, Julian de Pulkowski, at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music will receive her bachelor of music degree June 11.

Miss O'Bryant has not only proven her ability as a violinist by the tremendous amount of improvement during her study but also shown unusual talent in composition, having played her own composition, a Sonata for violin, cello and piano, written in three movements, allegro, tempo diminuendo and allegretto which was received with great ovation at the conservatory Friday evening, May 29.

Miss O'Bryant has appeared in many recitals and concerts in many cities, including Cincinnati and has been director of music at the Waterman School, a private institution in Cincinnati for small children.

STATE SUES XENIAN TO GET INSURANCE

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, acting on behalf of the state industrial commission, has brought suit in Common Pleas Court against John T. Barnett, 432 S. Detroit St., operator of a sawmill business, seeking to compel the payment of $1,676.68 in insurance premiums under provisions of the Ohio workmen's compensation law. Payment of the premiums has been refused.

The commission declares that since September 3, 1924, the total payroll expenditure in the sawmill business has amounted to $27,709.35 and the premium due on this amount has been determined at $1,576.16. The commission also estimates the payroll expenditure for the next six months at $1,512.25 with the premium being $100.52, making a total of $1,676.68 due the commission.

PILLS ARE OFTEN DANGEROUS

Most laxatives have to be taken in ever-increasing doses. Otherwise, they lose their power. The body needs roughage.

One of the most natural ways to obtain this roughage is by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Read what Mr. Albert F. Parker of Massachusetts has to say:

"I am 52 years old and have put in years suffering from constipation. Bought all kinds of pills and drugged myself with them and awoke lots of mornings with a headache.

"Haven't taken one pill since I began on Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I am now feeling the best I have felt in 20 years."

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to give relief. At your grocer's, in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BAPTISTS OBSERVE FELLOWSHIP DAY

The First Baptist Church, E. Market St., in common with all other Baptist Churches throughout the world, will observe "Baptist World Fellowship Sunday," June 7, according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Lunsford.

The suggestion for the observance was made by Dr. Albert W. Beavan, president of the Northern Baptist Convention now in session at Kansas City, and the plan was adopted by Baptists generally throughout the world. This denomination, now the largest in point of numbers on the American continent, is facing a real crisis in expanding its mission work and it is thought that the services Sunday will strengthen as well as inform the people on the question.

CHURCH OBSERVES CHILDREN'S DAY

Children's Day will be observed by the Sunday School of the First M. E. Church at the church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The program will be given by the Junior and intermediate choirs of the church under the direction of Mrs. Orpha Hull. Miss Theda Downing will be accompanist on the organ and Roy Siefert at the piano.

Children and infants will be baptized and members will be received into the church.

EAST END NEWS

The Missionary Society of the Zion Baptist Church held a very interesting meeting Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mary Peters, E. Market St. Twenty-three members were present. Mrs. Arona Liggins led in the devotionals which were very impressive from many angles.

The Rev. and Mrs. Perdue, the newly elected pastor and wife, were present and gave helpful suggestions much in accord with the work. Mrs. Viola Ward conducted the mission study period on the subject, "Stewardship in Mission Work." Mrs. Victoria Smith read a selection "Be What You Are." Mrs. Fannie Thomas gave a reading entitled "I Know Something Good About You." A request was made by Mrs. M. E. Harris, president of Western Union Missionary District asking each member to contribute something at the next meeting for the missionary box for Africa. The social hour was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. The next regular meeting will be at the home of the president, Mrs. Cora Hawkins. At that meeting the men of the church are especially invited. This session will be held in the evening.

Mrs. Lula Harris, of Seattle, Wash., who has been the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Page, E. Church St., returned home Wednesday after a very pleasant stay. She was accompanied as far as Chicago by her brother, Mr. Edward Page. Mrs. Ida Brock, of Chicago, who was called here about two months ago, returned home Sunday leaving her sister, Mrs. Pinkie Page much improved.

Mr. Edward Page, Jr., accompanied by Mr. William Shields, Jr. of Chicago, spent the week-end with relatives. They returned home Sunday evening.

Mr. Richard Murphy of Chicago, was the guest over the week-end of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Maria McCann and daughter, Miss Rose Murphy. Miss Murphy was a graduate of East High this year.

The Rev. Mr. Wright and choir of Dayton will present a service at Middle Run Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Church Aid Society. The Rev. Mr. Wright comes well recommended as a speaker and is said to have an excellent choir. The public is invited to the service.

Mr. J. D. Steward of Toledo, was a visitor of relatives here. Returning he was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Marie McCann Steward, who has been with relatives and friends here for a few days.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the Lord of hosts.—Malachi, iv, 5.

LONGING FOR THE LIMELIGHT

An innumerable company of young people, particularly of young women, are dreaming of some public career. They want to be movie stars, actresses, opera singers, dancers, or something similar. It is hard for them to pound the typewriter and wash the dishes, as they think of those darlings of fame and fortune who are gaining great successes in the limelight.

Many young people become so restless that they scrape together a little money and hire themselves to some great city or motion picture studio, hoping somehow to make their way. What attitude should parents take toward young people who have these ardent desires?

If such ones have genuine talent, it is dangerous to repress it. A woman may fear that if her daughter goes in for a stage career, she will be exposed to many temptations that threaten her real welfare. Yet if the girl has talent, she can't be blamed for wishing to develop it. Such a person can well be encouraged to go in for dramatic or musical performances in their own community. There it will soon be discovered whether she has real talent or not.

A young person's head should not be too easily turned by the flattery of one's own friends and favorable home sentiment. Such a one may seem like quite a wonder to local observers, and yet have no special gifts that would win any success in the professional world where friendship counts for nothing.

The glare of the limelight pitilessly exposes defects. People will not pay their money to see and hear performances that are merely average and mediocre. Talent has to be exceptional and unusual. Thousands of young people who have left their homes for public careers have found nothing but unhappiness. They should have stayed at home, and used whatever talent they had for entertainment, or to make an addition to some more dependable source of income.

WORTH CONSIDERING

An Austrian banker, visiting in this country, appears to attribute the loss of "willingness to work," which he observes in Austria, to the economic plight in which the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian empire at the end of the war left his country. There may be something to that theory. The economic unity of 15,000,000 people was destroyed by the treaty of peace. Austria today is a mere fragment of the former Hapsburg domain, a nation of 6,500,000 people, whose territory has been reduced from 261,000 square miles to 32,369 square miles. While hostile tariffs shut out her exports from countries formerly under her sceptre, Soviet Russia is flooding her domestic market with commodities sold at prices with which her own manufacturers cannot compete. Stagnation of industry has brought financial distress and the necessity of begging abroad for loans. A few years of that sort of thing might easily take the edge off a nation's willingness to work.

There has been in Austria, however, another factor which may not have been altogether without its effect on the national attitude toward work. After the war the country fell into the hands of the socialists, who set about remodeling it nearer to their heart's desire. Vienna illustrated their system. They began by taxing wealth to the point of confiscation. Anyone who kept a motor car or a servant or any other visible sign of money in the bank was made to pay through the nose. The funds thus raised were used in part to erect model tenements on land seized by the municipality for delinquent taxes. The oncoming generation was socialized, almost from conception and quite to the grave. A prenatal allowance was made to mothers. A municipal undertaker buried the dead.

An immediate and tangible result of the manner in which these reforms were financed was the loss to Vienna of some 240,000 residents, who might be said to have been taxed out of house and home. A serious but intangible result might have been expected to be the loss of the "willingness to work" by a large and socially privileged class from whose shoulders the state had suddenly lifted a large share of the obligation to look out for itself. The habit of leaning on the government is infectious; once it gets a foothold in the body politic it spreads rapidly. Sadder even than the spectacle of men seeking work where there is none is the spectacle of a nation despoiled of individual self-reliance and its spirit pauperized by paternalism.

GETTING OUT OF DEBT

Senator Byron Patton Harrison, better known as "Pat," is back again in the oratorical lists raising his strong right arm toward Heaven and denouncing the wicked Republicans in general and Secretary Mellon in particular for having reduced the national liabilities more rapidly than they were compelled to do under the law. This he insists has brought the country to its present economic condition.

The burden of the senator's contention seems to be that if the country were considerably further in debt than it is, and consequently were meeting considerably heavier annual interest payments than it is actually called upon to meet, it would be much more prosperous than it is.

Suppose we amplify by restoring to figures. On June 30, 1919, the national interest bearing debt amounted to $25,235,000,000, and the annual interest charge came to $1,054,000,000. By June, 1930, according to a statement (Mr. Harrison doubtless would call it a "confession") by Secretary Mellon, this debt had been diminished to $15,922,000,000 and the annual interest charge had been reduced by $448,000,000. In other words, the interest charges had been cut almost in half. The American people had been deprived of the privilege of paying almost a half billion dollars in taxes, which they might have been contributing to the treasury, if the government had had the sense to let the debt run along and perhaps pile up, so that when the depression arrived last year, the country would have experienced the joy of having a really healthy burden of obligation to take care of in time of stringency.

Our modern Ajax from Mississippi appears to have all the sovereign contempt for the ordinary processes of reason that his Grecian prototype had for the bolts of Jove.

The League of Nations is boasting of its success in having the Austro-German tariff union question referred to the World court. There's nothing like getting in your boasting early; for the real test is coming when the court hands down its opinion.

The impeachment proceedings inaugurated against Governor Horton, of Tennessee, show that politically his constituents are not so fundamental as they are on the evolution issue.

If Hawaii wishes statehood what excuse is there for denying it the boon, after looking at Nevada?

A deficit in funds is usually followed by a surplus of advice.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK — A statistician down in Washington, with nothing much else to do, has figured out that at pivotal points there are 67,000 dentists scattered over Columbia's fair domain.

How are we ever going to encourage optimism with 67,000 men in the country constantly looking down in the mouth?

A CYNIC OPINES

Flo Ziegfeld is about to produce another "Follies" to glorify the American girl and Schmolli Horowitz is to protest.

"She don't need 'glorifying,'" he says. "What she needs is soberin' up."

BEHIND THE TIMES

The Times, of Lunnion—you know the dear old Times—advertisers that if you want to keep abreast of current literary events you simply must read their weekly literary section.

And the literary section of the London Times oozed out a couple of weeks ago with its front page devoted entirely to the work of that promising young author, Daniel Defoe whose "Robinson Crusoe" probably just reached the London Times reviewer.

COCKNEY COMMENT

London comes in for more favorable comment.

The weekly prize for the worst pun in the world goes to "London Humorist" for the following:

"Monks all over the world are noted for being 'and of fish,'" says a writer.

"Out of the frying-pan, into the friar."

RELATIVITY

And New York's gravest and most ponderous morning newspaper, that advertises a circulation among several hundred thousand "thoughtful and intelligent" readers, announced in all seriousness the other day that Queen Marie, of Roumania, is King Carol's sister.

MORT DE MENCKEN

Somebody said to H. L. Mencken:

"What would you order to eat if you were being hanged this evening?"

And America's Model Husband replied:

"If it were the crab season in Maryland I'd ask for a plate of crab soup cooked at the Rennett Hotel in Baltimore. The artists there understand the Chesapeake crab thoroughly and every time they tackle it they produce a masterpiece."

"It requires 2 1/2 cups of crab flake, 2 cups of crab meat, one dozen hard shell crabs, 4 cups of diced potatoes, one cup of diced carrots, 2 cups of green peas, 2 cups of lima beans, 2 Bermuda onions, one-quarter of a small head of cabbage, 2 cups of corn, one cup of tomatoes, 2 cups of cream, 3 tablespoonsful of butter, one tablespoonful of flour."

"I don't know how you cook all that—how you mix and merge and mingle it—cook it into a single savory entity. But when it's done, eat it and be hanged."

With a generous quantity of H. L. Mencken's crab soup under his belt, "the crown of your head glows. Your feet tingle pleasantly. Your eyes gleam. Your heart leaps. Your midriff rejoices. A current of current passes all through you. The sun is in your stomach. The dog-star gambols up and down your spine gently. Everything is lovely and the goose honks high."

Why not be hanged when full of crab meat soup? O grave, where is thy victory? O death, where is thy sting?

ANOTHER BENEFICIAL RESULT OF THE EXPERIMENT

SENATOR NYE OF N. D. VIEWS WEALTH CONCENTRATION AS GREATEST DANGER

CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Concentration of wealth about which we hear so much!

When all the wealth is concentrated—then what?

"We may well ask ourselves that question," says Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota.

"We are in the habit," he continued, "of thinking of agriculture as in the farmers' hands; of the industries as in the hands of the manufacturers and utility managements."

"The fact is that these folk are mere agents for the great bankers who finance our whole system of production and distribution."

"The entire country works, for the bankers to squeeze out the profits."

"In recent years," said the senator, "the profits have been squeezed out so fast and so thoroughly, for the bankers' benefit, that at last the country is unable to produce them at a rate to keep up with the squeezing out process."

"This threatens disaster to the bankers themselves."

"It threatens them with disaster because they need an active, industrious public, seething with enterprises for them to put their money into, in order to make it yield further profits—to be squeezed out in turn, and reinvested. The country already is so utterly squeezed out, however, that there is no activity left in it. Hence most of their wealth remains on the bankers' hands—in the form of 'frozen assets.'"

"Frozen assets' are almost as troublesome in banking as insufficient assets to meet liabilities."

"The bankers," complained the North Dakotan, "not only have squeezed all the profits out of agriculture, they are squeezing the original capital out of it, and appropriating that also."

"To say nothing of getting ahead, the average farmer is unable even to make a living. In trying to live at all, he runs into debt. Unavoidably falling farther and farther behind, finally he loses his property. The mortgage forecloses on it. But what is the mortgage going to do with it? No other farmer is in a position to take it. As an asset, it is frozen solid."

The remedy?

"For farmers who are not yet

dispossessed," answered the senator, "the most effective immediate relief can be afforded by government loans at very low rates, permitting them to cancel the private obligations incurred upon terms under which they inevitably will forfeit their homes soon, in the grip of present economic conditions."

"Ultimately a radical readjustment of national wealth will be necessary."

"The industries," said the Dakota solon, "present a different but just as serious a problem."

"The dire distress of the railroads illustrates it."

"In the course of years our transportation lines, in addition to all their profits, have had their actual values squeezed out of them again and again until the nominal value of their repeatedly watered stocks bears no relation to the sums really invested."

"It is the aggregate of more than three generations of these successive dilutions that the public of today is asked to accept as the basis for a stiff increase in railroad rates—that dividends and interest may be paid upon billions of securities representing, in great part, nothing whatever."

"Of course," said the senator, "I oppose the increase."

"If it is refused, the impression we are given is that railroad stock dividends will begin to be passed; that shares will slump; that an avalanche of selling will ensue, with complete market disorganization; next that bonds may be defaulted, causing receiverships; ultimately, that the roads will be dumped, frozen, upon the bankers' doorsteps."

"The bankers' idea is that a rate increase will avert this calamity. A normal measure of profit squeezing having proved inadequate in such hard times, they want the public squeezed harder yet."

"The public cannot stand it, for one thing declared Senator Nye, 'and the plan would fail, in any event. Profits practically are all squeezed out for the present, and no amount of squeezing will squeeze out more of what does not exist.'"

"Possibly there is truth in predictions concerning what will happen if the railroads are denied a rate increase.

"The same prediction might be made concerning other industries. Quite generally they are about wrung dry. They cannot be saved by more energetic wringing. Let that method be followed, and when the bankers have squeezed out the last drop, the whole system will crash."

"The help which agriculture needs," said the Dakotan, "will not fit the industries, which imperatively require a larger, more widely-diffused purchasing power."

"Personally, I favor a public improvement program sufficient to put in circulation up to five or six billions of dollars, to be raised by a tax upon swollen fortunes. It will be described as confiscation, no doubt. Very well, call it that."

"Parenthetically, I may say that Colonel Arthur Woods, until recently President Hoover's director of unemployment, is said to have broken with the president because of his advocacy of such a plan as I mention, but limited to two billions, which Mr. Hoover would not endorse. My own criticism of it is simply that two billion is not nearly enough."

"Our salvation, in my opinion, depends upon the taking of a vast amount of wealth from the few hands in which it has become concentrated, and redistributing it."

When you cook rice to take the place of potatoes, cook more than you need for the meal. You may make a pudding of what is left or serve rice griddle cakes for the following morning's breakfast, as in today's menu.

Today's Recipes
Rice Griddle Cakes.—One cup cold boiled rice, two cups sweet milk, two eggs beaten separately, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon butter, flour to make thin batter. Mix thoroughly rice, milk and the yolks of the eggs. Add flour, baking powder and salt. Then the batter melted. Lastly fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, and fry on hot griddle. Serve in usual way with butter and egg syrup. These are very light.

Veal Croquettes.—One cup scalded milk, four tablespoons melted butter, two cups minced veal, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, egg, four tablespoons flour, one teaspoon onion juice, one-half cup chopped ham, one teaspoon salt, bread crumbs. Make a white sauce of butter, flour and milk. Then add onion juice and other seasoning. Cook for one minute, remove from fire. Add veal, chopped ham. Cool. Shape. Dip in crumbs. Egg and crumbs again. Fry until delicately brown. Drain on waxed paper.

Patients May Do Harm

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Colitis is a popular diagnosis just at present. To me, one of the most amusing parts of Dr. Axel Munthe's popular book, "The Story of San Michele," was his description of how he came to invent the disease "colitis." Some women who were rich and pampered and nervous and unhappy and who had vague pains all over the abdomen came to him, and because he had not the slightest idea what was the matter with them but knew they would feel more comfortable if they had a name for their disease, told them they had colitis. And the term became popular and still is.

Literally, colitis means inflammation of the colon. We have been considering a special form of it, mucous colitis, this week. Here I am speaking of a simpler form. While the symptoms are usually emphasized in nervous and introspective people, there is frequently a real basis for the disease.

One of the real dangers of the disease is that the patients will do themselves actual harm by too drastic treatments. The craze which has lately swept over the country to give what is called an internal bath and clear out every particle of poison from the large bowel is much better calculated to cause disease than it is to cure it. Every physician sees many patients who have been reduced to serious ill health by repeated high enemas and injudicious attempts to get a colon tube clear up to the head of the large bowel and flush it out.

It is always easy to get a great deal of refuse away from the large bowel, and the appearance of this impresses the patient with the necessity for more treatments. But it must be remembered that the colon is designed by nature to harbor a great deal of noxious material, and it is well adapted to prevent it from being absorbed. The vigorous treatments referred to irritate rather than soothe the bowel, and finally cause actual infections and ulcerations. The best authorities on the subject are unanimous in preaching against the continuous and repeated use of enemas over any prolonged period of time.

In fact, the best authorities are agreed that it is rarely possible to get a colon tube past the first part of the large bowel. Thus, to quote (and amend) one:

"It is of great importance that the enema should be properly instituted. People are frequently taught to pass the tube as far up the bowels as possible, and are rarely satisfied unless twelve or more inches have been introduced. Until comparatively recently, I understood this was general practice, but the pelvic colon joins the lower bowel at an acute angle four and one-half inches beyond the anus and it is a physical impossibility to pass a rubber tube beyond this except through a metal instrument which has been manipulated beyond the angle. This was proved long ago by Surgeon Goodhart in the post mortem room in 1900, and again more recently I demonstrated the same fact with the X-ray, which shows that the tube turns back when the angle is reached and coils up in the last four inches of the lower bowel."

Completely cleaning out the large intestine is comparable to the herculean task of cleaning the Augean stables, because refuse enters the large intestine faster than the hose can clean it out.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendenning can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene and 'The Care of the Hair and Skin.'"

Should Wife Attend Dances Alone?

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

A short time ago a man wrote that he didn't care to dance but his wife did, and she went to dances in nearby towns while he stayed at home with the baby.

He didn't seem to object to this so much, but asked if it wasn't a bit deceitful for his wife to take off her wedding ring and pass for an unmarried woman when she went to the dances.

Later a woman wrote censuring the husband for a selfish, begrudging his wife a little fun.

Now a young wife writes: "Dear Miss Lee: I am a young married woman 21 years old. We have been married three years and have a son two years old."

"I always liked dancing, and since marriage my husband doesn't care to go. Do you think it's all right for me to go with another married couple? My husband told me to go, but I don't feel as though I should go without him. Aside from this we always agree and love one another. I am writing to you for advice."

Mary Lou.

I see no objection to your going to an occasional dance with another married couple if you cannot persuade your husband to go with you and he has no objection, Mary Lou.

In that case persuade him to go out occasionally without you—with the boys, say. It is nice for young people to have a few separate interests.

If your husband ever seems to feel that he would rather you did not go to these affairs and seems jealous of the men you dance with there, give it up, my dear. After all, it is a little thing to do for one you love just to refrain from dancing at parties. You can dance at home all you want to and teach the baby to dance with you, and be happy and light hearted, can't you?

There are certain things without which it is hard for a married couple to be happy. These are called the essentials. Love is the first and most important of them. Then congeniality, enjoying one another's company, a sense of one's ability to make a living and the wife's aptness with the housekeeping. There are others.

Then there are the non-essentials, and going to dances is one of these, meaning, dear young wife, it is one of the things that you can happily do without rather than allow it to mar the harmony of your life together.

Bubbles K.: I think the boy friend likes you as a friend, but is not in love with you. He probably has a good time. You could hardly expect him to stay at home when he can see you only once in a great while. Don't answer his letter so promptly. Make him wait for a few weeks, and be as casual in your correspondence as he is. Then when you see him again be as friendly as ever. In other words, don't take the friendship too seriously.

Patsy: Better be honest with the boy and not give him false hopes. Patsy: At the same time you can not go to these affairs and seem jealous of the men you dance with there, give it up, my dear. ## Possibilities

There is a lad here. . .
—John 6:9.

To Strangers
In many uncivilized portions of the world, a stranger is received with suspicion and hostility.
This is never true with a Church. Attend Sunday services and see what a welcome you will get.

To Parents
A Marathon runner who sets an even pace and never breaks his stride finishes his race ahead of any competitors who lag and then try to win with a burst of speed. Don't let your children break their stride. Take them to Sunday School.

ANDREW was usually in the background. But it was he who discovered a lad with a lunch which Jesus used to feed a multitude. The biggest asset in the crowd around Jesus was a lad. His lunch, through the power of Jesus, worked wonders.

Boys (and girls, too) are possibilities. To lead them into the presence of Jesus is to release untold power. The world's greatest leaders have been found by the Church.

Work with boys and girls and you work with the material through which God does most of His wonders.

the suffering and death of the Saviour in this manner.
At Mt. Tabor the Sunday School will be at 2:00 p. m. followed by the communion at three. Let every Christian hold these services to be too sacred to be violated by any earthly consideration. Be present.

The church does not offer a panacea for all life's ills; but it can cure enough to make it worth while for you to decide to attend.

He profits most who serves best. No one can serve best until he has inspiration. Church attendance provides inspiration.

Your objections to regular church attendance have been common for thousands of years. Why not try something new and attend regularly? A new slant on life one day in the week makes the week stand up straighter.

The shadow cast by your life is forever behind you. Stop once in a while and see who is standing in your shadow, hoping to be helped by nearness to you. Do not disappoint any one.

The church seeks to provide worship not entertainment. The entertainment part of a service is incidental, nevertheless most church services provide entertainment in worship. A high form of entertainment.

Your particular problem has been solved many times as there have been Sundays, from as many churches. Your particular problem might be answered next Sunday at your particular church. Now wouldn't that help you?

Music hath a charm when properly applied to worship. Much of the world's best music has its inspiration in religion. Your presence at church helps foster good music.

Scandalizing!

His Lordship the Earl of Beauchamp (above), chancellor of the University of London, has astonished and scandalized his learned colleagues by relating incidents from his speakeasy experience in New York on a recent visit. Lord Beauchamp has coolly announced that he has no intention of apologizing for a speech in which he admitted climbing on a stool in a speakeasy to sample American liquor—and returning to sample some more.

This name soon completely replaced any other title.

CHAPTER 58

MARY and Martin had finished with their dinner and were sitting on the divan before the open grate fire in the private hotel dining room. Mary was shaking with a cold inward fear of herself—no more was she afraid of Martin. She only feared that her resolve would break before she had accomplished her purpose.

"I don't want to make you buy me, Martin. I had rather settle this on a straight business basis, and we could consider more personal affairs, afterward."

"Of course, my dear. We need not put it that way at all. We shall arrange our little business contract as you wish; but apart from that—entirely—make me the happiest man in the world tonight, darling. Don't you like me much more than you did a year ago, Mary?"

"Oh, yes," she could say truthfully. "So much more than I did a few months ago. You seem like a different man, Martin."

"There you are," he exulted. "I knew that loving you the way I do would bring a response in time. Mary—sweetheart—I shall make you so happy. Don't let yourself doubt me any more, will you? Mary, you are so sweet!" He held her in his arms, close. She let him kiss her, feeling a vague and heavy bewilderment. There was no ecstatic response as when Dick had kissed her—poorly last evening?

Mary drew away from him gently, but wanting to cry out and run from the room.

"Don't be afraid of me, darling."

"I have a little surprise for you, too." From his pocket, he took a handsome jeweler's case, and touched the spring. The huge diamond that caught and flashed the light like flames of fire, made Mary gasp. How could it be that on two successive evenings, two different men should present her with engagement rings? Such a farce as life was!

"Oh, Martin, how perfectly gorgeous! But—dear—won't you please keep it until—until we know—how the business deal ends? Won't you wait until then—for my final answer?"

His face reflected his keen disappointment. "Well, of course, if that would make you happier, my love."

"It would, Martin—oh, very much happier. You see—I am so—worried. Everything is so hopelessly mixed up, that I can't think. If—I can pay you back the money—it will all be so different. Then I can live and be happy, once more. Will you really let me have that money, Martin—so much?"

"If you need it and want it, dear. As soon as you will let me, I shall make it a gift to you. If you wish, it is a business loan, for the time being. I only wish you success in whatever it is that compels you to make this request. Whatever it is, I know that you must be pretty confident that your venture is safe. You would not take or borrow a fortune, lightly."

"You are so good, Martin. I can't tell you how wonderful you are to do this for me." She almost doubted that Dick's love would embrace such a faith in her.

"Won't you try to tell me—now?" he held out his arms for her. She submitted again to his caresses, kissed him with gratitude rather than emotion—all the time, hating herself for her deception. It seemed so absurd that any woman whom a man desired for himself, could so easily persuade him to part with a fortune, while that same man could not be convinced by another man that he would be sensible to invest that fortune.

Yet, Mary reflected that Foster was probably right about it. A man on the edge of failure, into whose business another had trusted an immense fortune, could not hope to confess his imminent failure to that man and yet persuade him to invest more. As it was, Frazier was confident that his other investments were safe, he believed in Mary and he was a good sport. More than all these, he wanted Mary at any price. He recognized that to put her under this little sense of obligation to him, was not a bad idea.

He thought, with amused satisfaction, that for once his fortune was serving him as a fortune should—to get what one wanted most in life.

The Theater

The romance of Nancy Carroll, petite red-headed Paramount star and Jack Kirkland, comes to an end on the seventh anniversary of their marriage.

The suit was begun in Nogales, Mexico, and the screen star and her husband are in New York submitting to the jurisdiction of the Sonora Court in Mexico by power of attorney. The divorce will go through in three months.

"Nancy and I have parted the best of friends," says Kirkland. "Neither of us wanted this to happen but it was unavoidable, we tion angles, Uncle Carl Laemmle thinks he has a scoop in "Massacre of Port Dearborn," a dramatic story of the development of Chicago which will be ready for release during the World's Fair there next year.

Uncle Carl has a warm spot in his heart for Chicago because he got his start there twenty-five years ago. Officials will cooperate in the picture and D. F. Kelley, president of the World's Fair Commission, will open up the records and the history of the city to the film makers.

What's become of the writers who used to live in garrets? John Monk Saunders, a young man and the husband of pretty Fay Wray, already has received five prices for his story, "Nikki and Her War Birds." He is said to have been paid $10,000 for the serial rights, royalties for the novel rights, $30,000 for the talkie rights and $15,000 for doing the screen play and directing the diaphane at First National. He will still receive money for reprint rights and retains radio and television rights. He got $25,000 and 10 per cent for the profits from Paramount for "Wings."

"Somewhere along the line, romance just went out of the window. There is nothing dramatic to be told. We both came to the realization that to continue being happy we must respect each other's independence. I believe we shall continue to find a mutual interest—not only in our daughter, but in each other's work—and we sincerely hope that our decision will be looked upon as the right of two human beings to further what they think is the best for their own happiness."

Patsy, five and one-half years, will be divided between them, each having her custody six months of the year. No alimony has been discussed. Nancy's salary is $5,000 a week. Kirkland is a playwright and managed his wife's financial affairs.

CHANGE OF FRIENDLY SEQUEL TO VATICAN-ITALY FUSS REMOTE

ROME, June 5.—Dark pessimism pervaded the Vatican today on the chances for an immediate and amicable settlement of its differences with the Italian government.

Negotiations, which were to have been reopened today after a "truce" to observe yesterday's religious holiday, were feared to have suffered a severe setback by the announced determination of the fascist party directorate not to "tolerate the political activities of the Azione Cattolica," lay church organization.

The directorate's ruling that all students in the secondary schools under 18 years of age must belong exclusively to the Fascist Avanguardisti or pioneers will prove a stumbling block in the path of further peace moves. It was believed by church officials. The edict was considered tantamount to prohibition of membership in Catholic youth organizations and was expected to remove any chances for a compromise.

Despite the fact that all of Catholic Italy was commemorating the feast of Corpus Christi, Pope Pius XI received Monsignor Borromeo-Duca, papal nuncio to the quinal and Marquisa Pacelli, counselor general of the Vatican state, to obtain complete reports of the directorate's meeting.

Italy, however, obeyed the pope's mandate that the day be commemorated without the annual show of parades and processions. All festivals in honor of the holiday were canceled and church services only were held. Most of the priests even refrained from delivering customary sermons.

Although negotiations were held likely to continue from where they left off on Wednesday, no announcement was expected. Both the Vatican and the government have been silent regarding the progress of the diplomatic conferences and probably will maintain that secrecy until they are concluded one way or another.

However, the church still awaited a reply to its two notes of protest over recent fascist outbreaks in the country, during which churches, institutions and Catholics were charged a breach of the Vatican treaty of 1929 and the concordat and asked for apologies and reparations.

Yesterday's conference between the pope and his two emissaries

ARGENTINE GOLFER CONTINUES TO LEAD BRITISH OPEN PLAY

Sets Fast Pace With 73 Early Friday To Take Lead

CARNOSTIE, Scotland, June 5.—Jose Jurado, brilliant young Argentine professional playing his first year of major competition golf, carded a seventy-three on the morning round of the British open golf championship tournament today, to wrest the lead from MacDonald Smith and Arthur Hovers.

Jurado had a grand total of 229 for the fifty-four holes played. Mac Smith, shooting a sizzling seventy-one for a total of 223, was tied in second place at that figure by Arthur Hovers, star British performer, who had a seventy-two today.

Farrell, Sarazen and Kirkwood of the American contingent were bunched close behind the leaders, Farrell with 75-224; Kirkwood with 77-227 and Sarazen with 75-225.

The prince of Wales accompanied young Jurado most of his round and witnessed some of the finest copy-book golf seen on these links during the present tournament. The wind had died down by the time Jurado went to the tee, and the course was considerably easier than it had been for the early flights.

Jurado was deadly accurate with his drives and approaches, and his putter functioned with unerring aim. Jurado's card:

Jurado—Out—4 4 4 4 4 3-36
Jurado—In—4 4 5 3 4 4-37-73-229

Coming home Jurado's drive found a bunker on the 12th, but he got out easily. He should have had a two on the 12th, but the putt refused to stay down. He finished the round in par figures, playing safely and conservatively.

This tiny Scotch town was en fête today and its streets beflagged as hundreds came from all parts of Scotland and England to witness today's play. The Prince of Wales was one of the first arrivals, but departed almost immediately toward the Barry course to play a game before joining the huge gallery.

The weather was warmer than for several days, the sun shining brilliantly with a freshening wind blowing.

Graham is a partner of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, in the fight which he is promoting here for July Fourth.

Ramsay MacDonald and British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson.

The meetings will take place at Chequers, country residence of the British premier.

While all concerned insist the conferences will be of a private and unofficial nature, the opinion prevailed that issues of utmost importance to the economic and financial situation of Europe would be discussed in detail at the meetings.

LONDON, June 5.—Disillusioned in their hopes for British aid in reparations, revision, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and Foreign Minister Dr. Julius Curtius of Germany arrived in England today.

During their conversations with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of Britain at Chequers, the German statesmen were expected to present facts and figures designed to show Germany has no course but to seek some sort of immediate relief from the burden of reparations.

It was learned the visitors will tell of the necessity for declaring a moratorium involving cessation of transfer of the condition part of the Young plan annuity.

The money will continue to be raised in Germany, but under Brüning's plan, will not be transferred to the creditor nations.

It was understood Brüning and Curtius had virtually abandoned hope of British sponsorship of the so-called "Henderson plan," under which Germany was to propose a flat thirty per cent cut in the reparations schedule as provided for under the Young plan.

This reduction was to have been based on the decline in commodity prices since the Young plan was drawn up.

Despite the unwillingness of the British government to stand sponsor for this sweeping proposal, there was some talk in British circles of joint European representations to the United States on the entire reparations and war debt questions. It was believed more likely, however, that Europe as a whole would force Germany to take the initiative and give the other nations reason for appealing to America.

The British press extended a somewhat frosty reception to the German statesmen. The general opinion appeared to be that Britain could not countenance reduction of reparations unless the United States first agreed to reduce or cancel the war debts.

"The meeting at Chequers," said the London Evening Standard, "will be merely another milestone on the road of international postponements."

KILLS TWO AND ENDS OWN LIFE

ROUND LAKE, N. Y., June 5.—Unrequited love was held responsible for a double killing and a suicide at a farm home near this village today.

Clyde Clemens, a middle aged painter, shot and killed Grace DeWitt, 19, killed her uncle, Gordon DeWitt, 56, and then fired a bullet through his own brain. She had repulsed his attentions, police were told.

Clemens, the father of five children, lived at Maltaville, a short distance from the DeWitt home.

Armed with a revolver, Clemens early today went to the DeWitt home and demanded to see the DeWitt girl, who formerly was a student nurse at the Lehigh Hospital at Troy.

FIND BONDS IN JAR

CROWN POINT, Ind., June 5.—Three quart jars of Liberty bonds, valued at $17,150 and a fourth quart of dynamite were in possession of Harry Schetzel, secret service operative, from Chicago today. Mrs. Roy Cool, living at Lake Village, Ind., found them buried on her husband's farm and brought them here to authorities. Judging from the unclipped coupons the bonds have been buried for about eight years.

Twenty - Seven Graduate At Cedarville College

Degrees were conferred upon and diplomas awarded to twenty-seven graduates of Cedarville College at the thirty-fifth annual commencement Friday morning at the Cedarville Opera House.

The Rev. William L. McEwan, D. D., LL. D., pastor of Third Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the board of trustees of Princeton Theological Seminary and former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, delivered the commencement address.

Preceding the exercises, a procession which included members of the graduating class attired in caps and gowns, college trustees, the college faculty and ministers having a part on the program, formed at Carnegie Library and marched to the Opera House. Two juniors, Robert Collins and Wilda Auld, headed the procession.

The exercises opened with the invocation by the Rev. Thomas Reed Turner, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Quincy, Mass., a graduate of the college with the class of 1899, whose son, Brenton Turner, was a member of the graduating class this year.

Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of the college, gave his farewell address to the seniors, conferred the degrees and presented the diplomas to the graduates.

The program was interspersed with music furnished by a trio from Xenia. The exercises closed with the benediction pronounced by Chaplain G. La Cade Markle of the U. S. Navy.

The Opera House was attractively decorated in the college and senior class colors and members of the junior class acted as ushers.

Honorary degrees of doctor of divinity were conferred upon two ministers, the Rev. William H. Kendall, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church in Indianapolis, Ind., and the Rev. Ernest McClellan, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church in Rochester, N. Y., a brother of Earl McClellan, of Greene County.

The college conferred the master of arts degree upon two students, the bachelor of arts degrees, with the four-year provisional high school certificate upon sixteen seniors, the bachelor of science in education degree and the four-year high school certificate upon two graduates, presented the two-year normal diploma.

MECHANICS BUSY ON LINDBERGH PLANE; FLYER PLANS TRIP

Date Of Start Not Set; Pontoons Are Attached

NEW YORK, June 5.—Mechanics today worked on the monoplane in which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh, the former Anne Morrow, will fly the Pacific.

Lindbergh's plane is being fitted with pontoons and otherwise prepared for the long flight. It will not be ready for the start of the jaunt for several days and no definite time for the take-off has been made.

Colonel Lindbergh was expected to reveal the course he has mapped out and other details of the journey today.

The Lindberghs, it was said, may follow the great circle course to the Pacific coast from here, crossing the boundary line of the United States into Vancouver or perhaps going as far north as Juneau, Alaska. From New York to northern Minnesota they would be flying largely over lakes, which would be suitable for emergency landings with the pontoon-equipped plane.

Both American and Soviet Russia flyers have crossed the Pacific by the northern route, which is to be attempted by the Lindberghs. The first crossing was made in the western direction by the army round-the-world flyers in 1924 in command of Lieutenant Lowell Smith. The second, in an easterly direction, was made by Russian flyers in a Soviet-built plane in 1929.

The army flyers, departing from Seattle, skirted the coast of British Columbia and of Alaska and from Seward, Alaska, they turned toward the southwest, following the Alaska Peninsula and the long arm of the Aleutian Islands, which separates the North Pacific from the Bering Sea.

The flight across the north Pacific is beset with dangers. Storms prevail throughout all the summer months.

Lieutenant Smith described the flight as most difficult. In May the army flyers found snow and high winds in that section and they hit snow and sleet and fog almost all the way in the vicinity of the Kurile Islands. Weather conditions are better in mid-summer than in spring, although dangerous disturbances are recurrent.

BOY, PAGE GANDHI!

NEW YORK, June 5.—When Mahatma Gandhi, who lives on a couple of cents worth of rice and curry a day, hears what happened in New York last night, perhaps he will carefully adjust his glasses and say: "Tash, tash!" then again he may just say: "Dear, dear!"

Anyway, 150 persons paid $6 each to attend a banquet in Gandhi's honor, to express "America's good wishes for the success of his undertaking in achieving India's independence."

Speeches by Justice Daniel F. Cohalan, Upton Close, Major Eugene F. Kincaid and Sallen-drath G. Keane were broadcast locally and also on a short-wave station. Gandhi probably did not listen in, as he does not own a radio.

PROMINENT EDUCATORS SEND PROTEST OF MILLER DISMISSAL

NEW YORK, June 5.—Protest against the dismissal of Herbert A. Miller, professor of sociology at the University of Ohio, because of "his teachings on the relations of the races" was made in a letter sent yesterday to the president and trustees of the university by twenty-nine prominent educators.

The letter declared Miller's dismissal was a "striking disregard of sound educational policy and a ruthless attack on the principals of academic freedom." Among the educators signing the protest were

BIG AIR LINER CROSSES OCEAN

FERNANDO DO NORONHA, Brazil, June 5.—Take-off of the giant German seaplane DO-X for the Brazilian mainland after its successful flight across the Atlantic was somewhat delayed today by the arduous task of filling the air liner's huge gasoline tanks.

The choppy surface of the sea made the re-fueling a difficult job. Originally scheduled to leave at 6 a. m., the DO-X now is not expected to be able to hop until 10 a. m. (9 a. m. E. D. T.).

NEW DIRECTOR OF BOY SCOUT REGION

COLUMBUS, O., June 5.—Arrangements were being made today to transfer regional headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America from Columbus to Akron, O., following the appointment of D. M. Ramsey of Akron as director of Region 4, comprising Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, and Kentucky. Ramsey succeeds Perry A. List of Columbus, who has assumed similar duties in Chicago. His appointment became effective June 1.

YOUTH NEAR DEATH

ZANESVILLE, O., June 5.—The condition of Herman Getter, 18, who was injured by the accidental discharge of a French 775-mm. cannon during a celebration opening all-Ohio Scout day here yesterday, was reported as critical today. The youth had one eye blown out and his body was badly burned by the flare of the gun which was to have fired a salute of recognition to the more than 1,000 Boy Scouts gathered here.

PETITIONERS SEEK TO COMPEL SPECIAL ELECTION ON ISSUE

Mandamus City To Force Calling Of Referendum Vote

The electric franchise controversy, which has been dormant for the last few weeks, was revived Friday by the group supporting the proposition of the Citizen's Public Service Co., subsidiary of Fairbanks, Morse and Co.

The latest development is the filing of a mandamus suit in Common Pleas Court seeking to compel City Commission to take steps to submit to the voters at a special referendum election three ordinances passed by the commission March 12, granting the Xenia electric franchise and light and power contracts to the Dayton Power and Light Co.

Plaintiffs in the action, who brought the suit in the name of the state of Ohio, are William H. Donges, George Eckler, George D. Geyer, L. E. John and Dr. J. R. McCormick.

Declaring themselves to be electors and beneficially interested in the questions involved in the suit, the plaintiffs assert they constitute the committee of five named to represent the interests of the signers of three petitions filed with City Commission last April 1 and 6, demanding a referendum election on the three ordinances granted the D. P. and L. Co.

These petitions, it is set forth, were each signed by more than the required 10 per cent of the electors and were filed less than thirty days after the electric franchise ordinances were passed.

The committee argues that it became a mandatory duty for the commission, under provisions of the state constitution, to adopt ordinances providing for submission of the original three ordinances to a referendum vote of the people at a special election to be called not less than sixty days nor more than 120 days later.

Pointing out that the minimum sixty-day period has already expired and that the 120-day maximum period will expire July 10, the plaintiffs declare that City Commission has refused to take any further action on their petitions and declines to arrange for a referendum election.

The plaintiffs seek a writ of peremptory mandamus ordering the commission to adopt the desired ordinances, specifying a date not later than July 10 for holding a special election at which the three D. P. and L. Co. ordinances will be voted upon at the same time. Attorney C. L. Darlington represents the petitioners.

City Commission has taken the stand that its hands are tied in the matter under terms of a temporary restraining order granted three weeks ago in Common Pleas Court in an injunction suit brought by the D. P. and L. Co. H. A. Higgins, as clerk of the commission, was temporarily enjoined from certifying the demand filed with him for a referendum election, city officials say.

POWER TRUST PROBE WILL REQUIRE YEAR BEFORE COMPLETED

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The "power trust" investigation of the Federal Trade Commission has disclosed so many ramifications in the giant utility holding companies it will be fully a year before the commission has completed its work, it was learned authoritatively today.

While it is possible a preliminary report may be made to congress next winter, because of demands in congress for legislation, it is declared the end of the inquiry is not in sight.

At least three major utility groups remain to be investigated by the commission. These include the vast Insull interests in the middle west, the Hyllsby group and the Associated Gas and Electric System.

The Insull group, headed by Samuel and Martin Insull, may be considered soon, it was indicated. Commission experts expect fireworks when they tangle with these two utility magnates, both of whom have actively taken up the cudgel against congressional critics of "power trust" operations.

Having finished its inquiry into the $800,000,000 North American Company, the commission today suspended public hearings for at least two weeks.

A new field of inquiry was opened up by the examiners' reports on the North American Company, which is expected to be pursued when the Insull group is reached.

In at least two instances, commission examiners reported, the North American Company had joined hands with other powerful utilities to avoid competition, duplication and rivalry and to effect economies.

Judge Robert E. Healy, chief counsel for the commission, indicated he was vitally interested in the extent to which even billion dollar utility companies have pooled territory and properties to suppress competition.

In one instance, it was found the North American Company and the Insull interests had joined hands in obtaining control of the North American Light and Power Company.

The latter company operated properties contiguous to those of the other two in the middle west, both were anxious to expand and each wanted the North American Light and Power. In the end each took an approximate 40 per cent interest in it.

This ended the possibility of competition in a vast field in the middle west from St. Louis to Milwaukee, it was declared.

NAUTILUS ON FIRST LEG OF ADVENTURE; LONDON FIRST STOP

BOSTON, June 5.—The submarine Nautilus, on the first leg of her great adventure to go under the ice cap at the North Pole, was running at reduced speed along the forty-second parallel today on her approximately 3,500 mile voyage across the Atlantic from Provincetown to London.

A radiogram from the coastguard cutter Ponchartrain to Easton division coastguard headquarters said:

"9 a. m. E. D. T. latitude 42-09; longitude 69-00; conveying Nautilus; good weather."

At coast guard headquarters it was estimated that the position of the Nautilus was fifty miles east of Cape Cod light. At 9 a. m. the submarine had covered approximately seventy miles since rushing off from Provincetown at 11:20 o'clock last night. At this rate it was estimated that the submersible was plowing the waves at a speed of approximately eight knots per hour, having cut down from her average of ten knots per hour.

It was presumed at coastguard headquarters that the Nautilus was conserving fuel to be ready for any blow that might come up. However, the submarine had enough fuel oil to carry her 5,000 miles. She was expected to arrive in London nine days hence. There was food enough aboard to last Sir Hubert Wilkins and his eighteen companions for eighteen months.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Off at last on his epic voyage to the north pole, the submarine Nautilus was at sea today.

With Sir Hubert Wilkins, commander of the expedition, Captain Oskar Denbow and seventeen others on board, the iron whale set out on her trip across the Atlantic, the first leg of the long cruise, shortly before midnight last night from Provincetown, Mass.

The Nautilus planned to move as far north as Halifax before actually starting across the Atlantic to London, where British scientists will inspect the craft before it leaves for the North Pole.

Sir Hubert said that if difficulty were encountered in crossing the Atlantic and considerable time lost he would strike directly for Bergen, Norway, where the final stores and Arctic gear for the expedition will be taken on board.

The speed of the submarine is about eleven knots and she would not be able to reach Land's End, England, much before June 20 or 25. She is due to dive under the Arctic ice cap about July 10 or 15. The course to be followed by the undersea craft to England covers more than 2,500 miles.

Final tests given the craft with its gray superstructure above a scarlet steel hull, showed it was ready and fit for the long trip. Sir Hubert said prior to the takeoffs.

There was hardly a dry eye in the Opera House last night at the performance of Mrs. Henry Wood's stirring play, "East Lynne" by a company of Little Theatre Guild players and the show was put down by those who know as one of the best that has visited our fair city for some time and the management is to be congratulated for having brought this accomplished company of gentlemen actors and lady-like actresses to our city. (Try whistling that sentence through your teeth—Ed.) The shameful conduct of the villain, Sir Francis Levison, a deep-dyed arch-criminal if there ever was one, the unhappy frustrations that beset the life of the sweet-mannered heroine, Lady Isabel; the tragic and heart-rending death of the poor lady's little son, Little Willie and the stoic patience with which Archibald Carlyle accepted the harsh blows a cruel fate had in store for him, wrenched at the heart-strings of a large audience that left the theater convinced that life holds many tragedies in store for those who disobey the laws or are too easily swayed by jealousy and other ills that beset the human flesh. Only when the black-hearted villain was led away in chains by a police officer, leaving the long-suffering principals to seek happiness anew, did the audience find the moral that dastardly conduct does not pay and that the long arm of the law will reach out and punish those who defy the conventions. The scene of the play opens at East Lynne which Mr. Carlyle, a lawyer, has purchased and where he takes his bride, Lady Isabel, the only daughter of the Earl, Lord Mount Severn, an aristocrat of the first water. Miss Corneelia Carlyle, sister of Mr. Carlyle, a snappish old maid, from the beginning renders Lady Isabel very miserable by her interferences in domestic matters. Miss Barbara Hare was long secretly attached to Mr. Carlyle. Her brother Richard is a fugitive from justice, having been accused of murder. He returns secretly and has an interview with Barbara, who gets Mr. Carlyle to loan him money. Sir Francis Levison, an unprincipled villain, instills into Lady Isabel's mind the belief that her husband is unfaithful to her; in proof of this he leads her where she may witness the interview between Carlyle and Barbara Hare. Maddened with jealousy Lady Isabel elopes with Levison. He deserts her and her child. She is reported as dead, but returns to East Lynne, disguised as a governess. She witnesses the death of her son William, and herself dies in the presence of Barbara, now Mrs. Carlyle, and her husband. (The show was acted very well by the company, whose enunciation and rhetorical gestures bespoke the ability of these performers, who came here direct from New York City and Boston. Although there were five acts and fourteen scenes the audience did not note the passage of time except for the passing of a steam locomotive and cats which interrupted the astonished players momentarily and recalled the indignation expressed here recently by Walker Whiteside when a dramatic speech was cut off by similar noise. (Corinne Mason, who acted the part of Lady Isabel gave a splendid and highly dramatic and touching rendition of the part. I. Macklin Hyman as the villain was hissed vigorously by the audience although it is said this young man, with his patent-leather hair, curled moustache and oily manners, is in reality a very gentlemanly young fellow and not at all like the dastard he played on the stage. Fred D. Snyder was letter-perfect in his role as Archibald Carlyle, Helen E. Hurley was sweet and assured as Barbara Hare, George H. Prugh as Richard Hare was finished and authentic and George H. Thorpe as Lord Mount Severn gave a splendid character portrayal and has a voice reminiscent of Fredrick Warde. Myrtle J. Poague was delightful as Miss Carlyle and the audience laughed loudly at her antics, glad of the relief from the heavy emotional strain of the deeper moments of the play. E. Dawson Smith, Harry A. Higgins, Alice R. Ruthrauff, Elizabeth Hardy and Peter Shagin carried off small parts well and Little Jean Mason wrung many a tear in depicting this life as Little Willie. After the modern manner, the audience entered into the spirit of the play and soundly hissed the villain while applauding the principals on every entrance and exit. The play bore evidences of careful direction by Eleanor Kiernan and Katherine Farrell and between acts a duo composed of Miss Juanita Rankin at the pianoforte and young Marcus Shoup, a fiddler of considerable promise, played many pretty pieces. (It was of much relief that the coal oil footlights did not smoke badly although the night was warm and sticky. The audience was pleased with a handsome new curtain painted very artistically by Helen Kennedy and Archer Maxwell, two of our more promising young artists. Colonel Harry A. Higgins announced very elegantly between acts that the play would be repeated tonight and that the company will present "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Saturday night at popular prices. This piece written in a spirit of reminiscence by ONE WHO WAS THERE—R. A. H.

was considered of importance. It was understood that a decision had been reached to continue with negotiations instead of breaking abruptly with the government, as it was feared might happen.

The newspaper war in the Italian capital between the Osservatore Romano and the Fascist publication remained dormant yesterday as the church organ was not published because of the holiday. However, copies of the pope's speech, attacking the Fascists, were distributed to all who entered the churches. The speech did not appear in the newspapers on Saturday, when it was made.

The government allowed the Y. M. C. A. in Florence and Lucca to reopen today, after they joined the Fascist movement. The playgrounds maintained by American Knights of Columbus continued closed.

ROME, June 5.—A decidedly conciliatory attitude on the part of the Fascists toward the Roman Catholic Church was indicated today by an article in the semi-official newspaper Popolo d'Italia dealing with the conflict over the dissolution of Catholic young people's organizations.

"Deploable excesses do not constitute persecution," declared the article, which was signed by Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the Italian premier.

"After all," the article continued, "only some sections of the Azzone

Cattolica (Catholic action) require elimination.

"By repudiation of excesses in an atmosphere of sincerity the sun of concord can shine again."

Meanwhile, the government pursued its policy of permitting youth organizations to resume operations if their members joined the Fascist movement. The Y. M. C. A. branches in Florence and Lucca were allowed to re-open but the Knights of Columbus playgrounds remained closed pending solution of the differences between the Vatican and the Fascist authorities.

The pope held another lengthy conference today with Monsignor Borgognini-Duca, Papal Nuncio to Italy, at which the latest phases of the Italo-Vatican clash were discussed in detail.

Fashion Revival Seen At "East Lynne" Here

QUITE charming and quaint were the gowns of several Xenia women who attended the Xenia Little Theater Guild's presentation of "East Lynne" at the Xenia Opera House Thursday evening. Gowns were of the 1850 period in keeping with the setting of the melodrama.

Mrs. Lawrence Shields wore a gown of white satin trimmed in pale blue satin and net. It was made

GRADUATION DAYS RECALLED BY CLUB.

Nineteen members and seven guests of the Cedrine Club met at the home of Miss Martha Crawford, 301 Market St., Thursday afternoon. Following a short business session Mrs. Richard McClelland sang two solos.

The main part of the program was presented by several members who reviewed their graduation from Cedarville High School. Several souvenirs were displayed including programs, pictures, invitations, costumes and gifts. One member displayed her bouquet which she had used and later pressed following her graduation twenty-nine years ago. Several members made comparisons of the manner of graduation exercises between the years 1876 and 1907.

The Crawford home was decorated with bouquets of peonies and roses and after the program a refreshment course was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. D. L. Crawford.

Miss Ruby O'Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Bryant, Jamestown, who is studying violin with the famous Polish artist, Julian de Polkowski, at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music will receive her bachelor of music degree June 11.

Miss O'Bryant has not only proven her ability as a violinist by the tremendous amount of improvement during her study but also shown unusual talent in composition, having played her own composition, a Sonata for violin, cello and piano, written in three movements: allegro, tempo diminuendo and allegretto which was received with great ovation at the conservatory Friday evening, May 29.

FILLING STATION TARGET OF THIEVES

Two packages of hewing gum, a watch valued at $1.98, a five-pound box of cakes, a pound of butter, two pounds of minced ham and $1.25 in currency comprised the loot obtained by thieves who visited a combined filling station and grocery operated by A. C. Miller at the Knollwood addition on the Dayton-Xenia Pike sometime after midnight Thursday.

Walton Spahr, chief deputy sheriff, who investigated the robbery, said the intruders cut the glass around the lock of the front door, then reached inside and turned the knob of the night lock. The cash register was rifled.

STATE SUES XENIAN TO GET INSURANCE

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, acting on behalf of the state industrial commission, has brought suit in Common Pleas Court against John T. Barnett, 432 S. Detroit St., operator of a sawmill business, seeking to compel the payment of $1,676.68 in insurance premiums under provisions of the Ohio workmen's compensation law. Payment of the premiums has been refused, it is claimed.

The commission declares that since September 9, 1924, the total payroll expenditure in the sawmill business has amounted to $27,709.35 and the premium due on this amount has been determined at $1,576.16. The commission also estimates the payroll expenditure for the next six months at $1,512.25 with the premium being $100.52, making a total of $1,676.68 due the commission.

PILLS ARE OFTEN DANGEROUS

Most laxatives have to be taken in ever-increasing doses. Otherwise, they lose their power. The body needs roughage.

One of the most natural ways to obtain this roughage is by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Read what Mr. Albert F. Parker of Massachusetts has to say:

"I am 52 years old and have put in years suffering from constipation. Bought all kinds of pills and drugged myself with them and awoke lots of mornings with a headache.

"Haven't taken one pill since I began on Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I am now feeling the best I have felt in 20 years."

Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to give relief. At your grocer's, in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BAPTISTS OBSERVE FELLOWSHIP DAY

The First Baptist Church, E. Market St., in common with all other Baptist Churches throughout the world, will observe "Baptist World Fellowship Sunday," June 7, according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Lunsford.

The suggestion for the observance was made by Dr. Albert W. Beavan, president of the Northern Baptist Convention now in session at Kansas City, and the plan was adopted by Baptists generally throughout the world. This denomination, now the largest in point of numbers on the American continent, is facing a real crisis in its mission work and it is thought that the services Sunday will strengthen as well as inform the people on the question.

CHURCH OBSERVES CHILDREN'S DAY

Children's Day will be observed by the Sunday School of the First M. E. Church at the church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The program will be given by the junior and intermediate choirs of the church under the direction of Mrs. Orpha Hull. Miss Theda Downing will be accompanist on the organ and Roy Siefert at the piano.

Children and infants will be baptized and members will be received into the church.

EAST END NEWS

The Missionary Society of the Zion Baptist Church held a very interesting meeting Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mary Peters, E. Market St. Twenty-three members were present. Mrs. Aroma Liggins led in the devotionals which were very impressive from many angles. The Rev. and Mrs. Perdue, the newly elected pastor and wife, were present and gave helpful suggestions much in accord with the work Mrs. Viola Ward conducted the mission study period on the subject, "Stewardship in Mission Work." Mrs. Victoria Smith read a selection "Be What You Are." Mrs. Fannie Thomas gave a reading entitled "I Know Something Good About You." A request was made by Mrs. M. E. Harris, president of Western Union Missionary District asking each member to contribute something at the next meeting for the missionary box for Africa. The social hour was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. The next regular meeting will be at the home of the president, Mrs. Cora Hawkins. At that meeting the men of the church are especially invited. This session will be held in the evening.

Mrs. Lula Harris, of Seattle, Wash., who has been the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Page, E. Church St., returned home Wednesday after a very pleasant stay. She was accompanied as far as Chicago by her brother, Mr. Edward Page, who was called here about two months ago, returned home Sunday leaving her sister, Mrs. Pinkie Page much improved.

Mr. Edward Page, Jr., accompanied by Mr. William Shields, Jr. of Chicago, spent the week-end with relatives. They returned home Sunday evening.

Mr. Richard Murphy of Chicago, was the guest over the week-end of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Maria McCann and daughter, Miss Rose Murphy. Miss Murphy was a graduate of East High this year.

The Rev. Mr. Wright and choir of Dayton will present a service at Middle Run Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Church Aid Society. The Rev. Mr. Wright comes well recommended as a speaker and is said to have an excellent choir. The public is invited to the service.

Mr. J. D. Steward of Toledo, was a visitor of relatives here. Returning he was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Marie McCann Steward, who has been with relatives and friends here for a few days.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the Lord of hosts.—Malachi, iv, 5.

LONGING FOR THE LIMELIGHT

An innumerable company of young people, particularly of young women, are dreaming of some public career. They want to be movie stars, actresses, opera singers, dancers, or something similar. It is hard for them to pound the typewriter and wash the dishes, as they think of those darlings of fame and fortune who are gaining great successes in the limelight.

Many young people become so restless that they scrape together a little money and hire themselves to some great city or motion picture studio, hoping somehow to make their way. What attitude should parents take toward young people who have these ardent desires?

If such ones have genuine talent, it is dangerous to repress it. A woman may fear that if her daughter goes in for a stage career, she will be exposed to many temptations that threaten her real welfare. Yet if the girl has talent, she can't be blamed for wishing to develop it. Such a person can well be encouraged to go in for dramatic or musical performances in their own community. There it will soon be discovered whether she has real talent or not.

A young person's head should not be too easily turned by the flattery of one's own friends and favorable home sentiment. Such a one may seem like quite a wonder to local observers, and yet have no special gifts that would win any success in the professional world where friendship counts for nothing.

The glare of the limelight pitilessly exposes defects. People will not pay their money to see and hear performances that are merely average and mediocre. Talent has to be exceptional and unusual. Thousands of young people who have left their homes for public careers have found nothing but unhappiness. They should have stayed at home, and used whatever talent they had for entertainment, or to make an addition to some more dependable source of income.

WORTH CONSIDERING

An Austrian banker, visiting in this country, appears to attribute the loss of "willingness to work," which he observes in Austria, to the economic plight in which the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian empire at the end of the war left his country. There may be something to that theory. The economic unity of 51,000,000 people was destroyed by the treaty of peace. Austria today is a mere fragment of the former Hapsburg domain, a nation of 6,500,000 people, whose territory has been reduced from 261,000 square miles to 32,369 square miles. While hostile tariffs shut out her exports from countries formerly under her sceptre, Soviet Russia is flooding her domestic market with commodities sold at prices with which her own manufacturers cannot compete. Stagnation of industry has brought financial distress and the necessity of begging abroad for loans. A few years of that sort of thing might easily take the edge off a nation's willingness to work.

There has been in Austria, however, another factor which may not have been altogether without its effect on the national attitude toward work. After the war the country fell into the hands of the socialists, who set about remodeling it nearer to their heart's desire. Vienna illustrated their system. They began by taxing wealth to the point of confiscation. Anyone who kept a motor car or a servant or any other visible sign of money in the bank was made to pay through the nose. The funds thus raised were used in part to erect model tenements on land seized by the municipality for delinquent taxes. The oncoming generation was socialized, almost from conception and quite to the grave. A prenatal allowance was made to mothers. A municipal undertaker buried the dead.

An immediate and tangible result of the manner in which these reforms were financed was the loss to Vienna of some 240,000 residents, who might be said to have been taxed out of house and home. A serious but intangible result might have been expected to be the loss of the "willingness to work" by a large and socially privileged class from whose shoulders the state had suddenly lifted a large share of the obligation to look out for itself. The habit of leaning on the government is infectious; once it gets a foothold in the body politic it spreads rapidly. Sadder even than the spectacle of men seeking work where there is none is the spectacle of a nation despoiled of individual self-reliance and its spirit pauperized by paternalism.

GETTING OUT OF DEBT

Senator Byron Patton Harrison, better known as "Pat," is back again in the oratorical lists raising his strong right arm toward High Heaven and denouncing the wicked Republicans in general and Secretary Mellon in particular for having reduced the national liabilities more rapidly than they were compelled to do under the law. This he insists has brought the country to its present economic condition.

The burden of the senator's contention seems to be that if the country were considerably further in debt than it is, and consequently were meeting considerably heavier annual interest payments than it is actually called upon to meet, it would be much more prosperous than it is.

Suppose we amplify by restoring to figures. On June 30, 1919, the national interest bearing debt amounted to $25,235,000,000, and the annual interest charge came to $1,054,000,000. By June, 1930, according to a statement (Mr. Harrison doubtless would call it a "confession") by Secretary Mellon, this debt had been diminished to $15,922,000,000 and the annual interest charge had been reduced by $448,000,000. In other words, the interest charges had been cut almost in half. The American people had been deprived of the privilege of paying almost a half billion dollars in taxes, which they might have been contributing to the treasury, if the government had had the sense to let the debt run along and perhaps pile up, so that when the depression arrived last year, the country would have experienced the joy of having a really healthy burden of obligation to take care of in time of stringency.

Our modern Ajax from Mississippi appears to have all the sovereign contempt for the ordinary processes of reason that his Grecian prototype had for the bolts of Jove.

The League of Nations is boasting of its success in having the Austro-German tariff union question referred to the World court. There's nothing like getting in your boasting early; for the real test is coming when the court hands down its opinion.

The impeachment proceedings inaugurated against Governor Horton, of Tennessee, show that politically his constituents are not so fundamental as they are on the evolution issue.

If Hawaii wishes statehood what excuse is there for denying it the boon, after looking at Nevada?

A deficit in funds is usually followed by a surplus of advice.

How are we ever going to encourage optimism with 67,000 men in the country constantly looking down in the mouth?

A CYNIC OPINES

Flo Ziegfeld is about to produce another "Follies" to glorify the American girl and "Schmool" Hont writes in to protest. "She don't need 'glorifying,'" he says. "What she needs is soberin' up."

BEHIND THE TIMES

The Times, of Lunnun—you know the dear old Times—adverts that if you want to keep abreast of current literary events you simply must read their weekly literary section.

And the literary section of the London Times oozed out a couple of weeks ago with its front page devoted entirely to the work of that promising young author, Daniel Defoe, whose "Robinson Crusoe" probably just reached the London Times reviewer.

COCKNEY COMMENT

London comes in for more favorable comment.

The weekly prize for the worst pun in the world goes to "London Humorist" for the following:

"Monks all over the world are noted for being 'ond of fish,'" says a writer.

"Out of the 'rying-pan, into the friar."

RELATIVITY

And New York's gravest and most ponderous morning newspaper, that advertises a circulation among several hundred thousand "thoughtful and intelligent" readers, announced in all seriousness the other day that Queen Marie, of Roumania, is King Carol's sister.

MORT DE MENCKEN

Someone said to H. L. Mencken:

"What would you order to eat if you were being hanged this evening?"

And America's Hanged Husband replied:

"If it were the crab season in Maryland I'd ask for a plate of crab soup cooked at the Rennett Hotel in Baltimore. The artists there understand the Chesapeake crab thoroughly and every time they tackle it they produce a masterpiece."

"It requires 2 1/2 cups of crab flake, 2 cups of crab meat, one dozen hard shell crabs, 4 cups of diced potatoes, one cup of diced carrots, 2 cups of green peas, 2 cups of lima beans, 2 Bermuda onions, one-quarter of a small head of cabbage, 2 cups of corn, one cup of tomatoes, 2 cups of cream, 3 tablespoons of butter, one tablespoonful of flour."

"I don't know how you cook all that—how you mix and merge and mingle it—coax it into a single savory entity. But when it's done, eat it and be hanged."

With a generous quantity of H. L. Mencken's crab soup under his belt, "the crown of your head glows. Your feet tingle pleasantly. Your eyes gleam. Your heart leaps. Your midriff rejoices. A tender current passes all through you. The sun is in your stomach. The dog-star gambols up and down your spine gently. Everything is lovely and the goose honks high."

Why not be hanged when full of crab meat soup? O grave where is thy victory? O death where is thy sting?

ANOTHER BENEFICIAL RESULT OF THE EXPERIMENT

SENATOR NYE OF N. D. VIEWS WEALTH CONCENTRATION AS GREATEST DANGER

CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Concentration of wealth about which we hear so much!

When all the wealth is concentrated—then what?

"We may well ask ourselves that question," says Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota.

"We are in the habit," he continued, "of thinking of agriculture as in the farmers' hands; of the industries as in the hands of the manufacturers and utility companies."

"The fact is that these folk are mere agents for the great bankers who finance our whole system of production and distribution."

"The entire country works, for the bankers to squeeze out the profits."

"In recent years," said the senator, "the profits have been squeezed out so fast and so thoroughly, for the bankers' benefit, that at last the country is unable to produce them at a rate to keep up with the squeezing out process."

"This threatens disaster to the bankers themselves."

"It threatens them with disaster because they need an active, industrious public, seething with enterprises for them to put their money into, in order to make it yield further profits—to be squeezed out in turn, and reinvested."

"The country already is so utterly squeezed out, however, that there is no activity left in it. Hence most of their wealth remains on the bankers' hands—in the form of 'frozen assets.'"

"Frozen assets" are almost as troublesome in banking as insufficient assets to meet liabilities."

"The bankers," complained the North Dakotan, "not only have squeezed all the profits out of agriculture; they are squeezing the original capital out of it, and appropriating that also."

"To say nothing of getting ahead, the average farmer is unable even to make a living. In trying to live at all, he runs into debt. Unavoidably falling farther and farther behind, finally he loses his property. The mortgagee forecloses on it. But what is the mortgagee going to do with it? No other farmer is in a position to take it. As an asset, it is frozen solid."

The remedy?

"For farmers who are not yet

dispossessed," answered the senator, "the most effective immediate relief can be afforded by government loans at very low rates, permitting them to cancel the private obligations incurred upon terms under which they inevitably will forfeit their homes soon, in the grip of present economic conditions."

"Ultimately a radical readjustment of national wealth will be necessary."

"The industries," said the Dakota senator, "present a different but just as serious a problem."

"The dire distress of the railroads illustrates it."

"In the course of years our transportation lines, in addition to all their profits, have had their actual values squeezed out of them again and again, until the nominal value of their repeatedly watered stocks bears no relation to the sums really invested."

"It is the aggregate of more than three generations of these successive dilutions that the public of today is asked to accept as the basis for a stiff increase in railroad rates—that dividends and interest may be paid upon billions of securities representing, in great part, nothing whatever."

"Of course," said the senator, "I oppose the increase."

"If it is refused, the impression we are given is that railroad stock dividends will begin to be passed; that shares will slump; that an avalanche of selling will ensue, with complete market disorganization; next that bonds may be defaulted, causing receiverships; ultimately that the roads will be dumped, frozen, upon the bankers' doorsteps."

"The bankers' idea is that a rate increase will avert this calamity. A normal measure of profit, squeezing having proved inadequate in such hard times they want the public squeezed harder yet."

"The public cannot stand it, for one thing," declared Senator Nye, and the plan would fail, in any event. Profits practically are all squeezed out for the present, and no amount of squeezing will squeeze out more of what does not exist."

"Possibly there is truth in predictions concerning what will happen if the railroads are denied a rate increase."

"The same prediction might be made concerning other industries. Quite generally they are about wrung dry. They cannot be saved by more energetic wringing. Let that method be followed, and when the bankers have squeezed out the last drop, the whole system will crash."

"The help which agriculture needs," said the Dakotan, "will not fit the industries, which imperatively require a larger, more widely-diffused purchasing power."

"Personally, I favor a public improvement program sufficient to put in circulation up to five or six billions of dollars, to be raised by a tax upon swollen fortunes. It will be described as confiscation, no doubt. Very well, call it that."

"Parenthetically, I may say that Colonel Arthur Woods, until recently President Hoover's director of unemployment, is said to have broken with the president because of his advocacy of such a plan as I mention, but limited to two billions, which Mr. Hoover would not indorse. My own criticism of it is simply that two billion is not nearly enough."

"Our salvation, in my opinion, depends upon the taking of a vast amount of wealth from the few hands in which it has become concentrated, and redistributing it."

Someone's An Anemone! Might Be You, Might Be Me

A Funny Way to Live

I climbed over the rocks until I came to a hollow place scooped deep by the patient, persistent waves. The hollow was filled with water and in the water lived a host of gay, mysterious sea things—as numerous as the contents of a small boy's pocket.

Waving bits of seaweed. An abalone shell turned upward and gleaming beautiful. A cluster of mussels, a group of periwinkles. (I have seen brown plump Japanese children gathering those periwinkles, pulling out their contents with sharp sticks, eating them joyously.)

A bright red shell clinging to rock. Four or five pink rock-crabs, scuttling across the bottom of the pool and hiding in crevices. Bits of rock—every color you know—so much brighter in the water than they ever are after you take them home.

And by far the most interesting are the Sea Anemones.

You know the Anemone? He's not a flower. He's something that lives in the sea and is less an animal than a vegetable.

A charming round thing that's green or blue or pink and waves his little tentacles easily in the shifting currents.

He's hardly more than a Mouth, attached to a rock. You drop a tiny rock into that Mouth, or you touch it with a stick, and it closes. This rock may be food, this stick may be something good to eat; the anemone is taking no chances.

It discovers that the rock is not food, the stick is not food, either; so it opens its mouth and waits some time. It isn't disappointed; it has no emotions about it at all; it doesn't grieve. It doesn't get angry; it does not exactly enjoy life, but it doesn't fear death, either. It's just a Mouth, just an Anemone.

What a strange life an Anemone lives! Just a pretty thing, attached to a rock, waiting for food to float its way and fall into its mouth. A dull life, you think? And no human being could ever live as the Anemone does? Well, I don't know about that. Aren't some people always waiting for something to happen? Don't some people wait for praise, for luck, for courage, for happiness? Wait as stolidly as the anemone on the rock for life to come to them and fill their little mouths?

Don't they? Then aren't some of us more like Pretty Little Anemones than the vigorous and working human beings we are supposed to be? Who wants to be a Mouth—and nothing more? Does anybody?

Patients May Do Harm

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Colitis is a popular diagnosis just at present. To me, one of the most amusing parts of Dr. Axel Munthe's popular book, "The Story of San Michele," was his description of how he came to invent the disease "colitis." Some women who were rich and pampered and nervous and unhappy, and who had vague pains all over the abdomen came to him, and because he had not the slightest idea what was the matter with them but knew they would feel more comfortable if they had a name for their disease, told them they had colitis. And the term became popular and still is.

Literally, colitis means inflammation of the colon. We have been considering a special form of it, mucous colitis, this week. Here I am speaking of a simpler form. While the symptoms are usually emphasized in nervous and introspective people, there is frequently a real basis for the disease.

One of the real dangers of the disease is that the patients will do themselves actual harm by too drastic treatments. The craze which has lately swept over the country to give what is called an internal bath and clear out every particle of poison from the large bowel is much better calculated to cause disease than it is to cure it. Every physician sees many patients who have been reduced to serious ill health by repeated high enemas and injudicious attempts to get a colon tube clear up to the head of the large bowel and flush it out.

It is always easy to get a great deal of refuse away from the large bowel, and the appearance of this improves the patient with the necessity for more treatments. But it must be remembered that the colon is designed by nature to harbor a great deal of noxious material, and it is well adapted to prevent it from being absorbed. The vigorous treatments referred to irritate rather than soothe the bowel, and finally cause actual infections and ulcerations. The best authorities on the subject are unanimous in preaching against the continuous and repeated use of enemas over any prolonged period of time.

In fact, the best authorities are agreed that it is rarely possible to get a colon tube past the first part of the large bow. Thus, to quote (and amend) one:

"It is of great importance that the enema should be properly instituted. People are frequently taught to pass the tube as far up the bowel as possible, and are rarely satisfied unless twelve or more inches have been introduced. Until comparatively recently, I understood this was general practice, but the pelvic colon joins the lower bowel at an acute angle four and one-half inches beyond the anus and it is a physical impossibility to pass a rubber tube beyond this except through a metal instrument which has been manipulated beyond the angle.

This was proved long ago by Surgeon Goodhart in the post mortem room in 1900, and again more recently I demonstrated the same fact with the X-ray, which shows that the tube turns back when the angle is reached and coils up in the last four inches of the lower bowel."

Completely clearing out the large intestine is comparable to the herculean task of cleaning the Augean stables, because refuse enters the large intestine faster than the hose can clean it out.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

How softball got started in Xenia and survived to become increasingly popular as years went by is just a bit vague, but if memory does not fail us, the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs were mainly responsible for introduction of the sport in this city six or seven years ago.

Softball has been conducted here on an organized league basis during the last five years, counting the present season, but back in 1926 and prior to that time, the pastime did not have the general appeal it now enjoys.

The exact year when the Rotarians and Kiwanians began playing an annual softball series is not certain in our mind, but it could not have been more than one or two years prior to 1926.

Kiwanians won the 1926 series with their rival club with two straight victories by scores of 11 to 10 and 14 to 9. McLaughlin pitched both games for the winners and J. B. Bice hurled for the Rotarians.

The games were originally staged on a vacant lot on E. Church St. west of the present Central High School building and later were staged on what is now the football gridiron just opposite the entrance to the field.

Because the game was a great deal like baseball, the ball then used was large and soft, the "kitten ball" sport caught the immediate fancy of those who gathered to see the Rotary and Kiwanis play. Large crowds would turn out to see the fun because there were errors galore, plenty of hitting and contests were decided by large scores.

The Boy Scouts then organized a team, after which a group of youths organized a team under the name of the Junior Business Men.

It was not until the spring of 1927 that definite steps to organize a league were taken. With John "Bunny" Purdom, of the Junior Business Men, as the moving spirit, the "Xenia Play-ground League" was formed, composed of six teams in "Class A" and four teams in "Class B". Teams entered in the "A" class included the Junior Business Men, Central High School, Senior Business Men, Boy Scouts, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. Entered in the "B" division were the Firemen, Lang Chevrolet Co., Butchers and the Post Office.

The Junior Business Men and the Firemen won their division championships and in the final play-off to decide the city title, the Junior Business Men won the series with two straight victories. During this particular season the playing rules were not standardized and few of the players and fans were entirely familiar with the situation. Games were decided by large scores, teams frequently getting thirty or forty runs.

The twelve players who were on the roster of the Junior Business Men celebrated the fact they had won the city title by having a banquet. The group invited those who had umpired the games during the season, including Earl Boxwell and Paul Turnbull, and formed a permanent organization which has since been known as the Downtown Country Club.

Two separate leagues of six and four teams were formed during the spring of 1928. The leagues were named the National and American and these names have since been retained.

A new entry playing under the name of the Harmon Cigars won the National League championship in 1928 and subsequently copied the city title by defeating the Carroll-Binder Co., a team which had been the victor in the American League race.

The Downtown Country Club was returned the city champion team in 1929, beating the Harmon and Allison Co., the American League champion, two straight games.

Last year the Lang Chevrolets, after years of disappointment, came through with flying colors, winning the title in a post-season series with the Krippendorf-Dittmann Shoe Co.

The only groups or organizations which have entered softball teams in the field every year since organized leagues have been in existence are the D. T. C. Club, Central High and Lang Chevrolets, although the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs have been represented either separately or jointly each year.

The two clubs combined forces last year, or it may have been the year before, under the name of Ki-Ro, and this year a few club members are on the All-Star team. At least Tommy McClelland and "Brownie" Baldner are still playing in their annual positions, Tommy catching and "Brownie" at third base as of yore.

Long And Hard Hitting Wins For Central Hi

DEFEAT ST. BRIGID IN AMERICAN LOOP CONTEST THURSDAY

Glass Leads Attack On Hornick Hurling To Win 8 To 4

Collecting thirteen hits, including four doubles, a triple and a home run, Central High School's softball team entrenched itself a little deeper in second place in the American League chase by defeating St. Brigid's team, 8 to 4 in a seven-inning game at Cox Field Thursday night. The second half of the scheduled double-header was called off.

Paced by Harold Glass, slugging center fielder, who pounded out a home run and a brace of doubles, the Buccaneers took a distinct liking to the output of Hornick, St. Brigid pitcher. Storer, pitching for the Bucs, allowed only four hits and three of the Parochial school team's runs were unearned.

Central scored three times in the first inning after the first two batters had been retired on fly ball. Huston singled and Glass drove a long blow for all the bases. Custer followed with a double and scored when Banker's fly to right field was muffed.

The Bucs added three more in the third on Creamer's single, consecutive two-baggers by Huston and Glass and an error. Hyman's triple and a single by Ringer produced another rally in the fourth and Central counted its final run in the fifth on Glass' double and a hit by Banker.

Blanked for three rounds, St. Brigid unleashed a three-run rally in fourth, Fletcher singled but was forced by Zennil. Hornick was safe on an error by Confer. Fuller was safe on an error by Glass and made the circuit. Joe Zennil's home run with the bases empty accounted for the last St. Brigid run in the sixth.

The defeat was the third straight for St. Brigid. By winning, Central High advanced to within one full game of the league-leading Krippendorf team.

The Lang Chevrolets will seek to repeat a first round victory over Wood's Barbers in a National League contest Friday night. Line-ups:

TOTAL OF 171 AUTOS TESTED; ONLY 65 OF THESE RECEIVE O. K.

A total of 171 automobiles underwent inspection on the opening day of Safety Lane. Of this number, thirty-six passed the complete test on the first trial. Owners of twenty-nine other cars had the necessary adjustments made and passed on the second test, thus making a grand total of sixty-five that passed out of 171 examined.

The number of cars failing to pass the individual tests were as follows: eighty-five brakes, 117 lights, twenty-five wheel alignment. Safety Lane, one of the most constructive campaigns ever staged in this vicinity for the prevention of motor vehicle accidents, is being sponsored by Mayor Kany, the police department, the Greene County Auto Club, and other organizations.

It comprises a test of brakes, headlights, horn, mirror and windshield wiper, wheel alignment and steering wheel play. The inspection will continue through the remainder of the week and is free to the motoring public.

Owners of cars successfully passing all tests will be issued an O. K. Certificate to be pasted on the windshield; those whose cars fail will be given a duplicate of the official test card showing the various adjustments necessary for safety.

By having these adjustments made and properly certified to on the back of this card, the motorist, on presentation of this card, will receive an O. K. certificate. It is expected that many more owners of cars which failed to pass will have the necessary adjustments made and receive stickers before the completion of the test which is being made on E. Church St.

VINCE DUNDEE WINS DECISION IN BOUT

NEW YORK, June 5.—Vince Dundee, wall-eyed Baltimore Italian who now makes his post of Newark, N. J., stood forth today as the leading claimant to Mickey Walker's rusty middleweight crown as the result of his hairline decision over Ben Jeby of New York in a ten-round elimination contest at Madison Square Garden last night.

The bout was rendered dull by Dundee's incessant holding, and both fighters failed to show anything that would warrant placing them in the list of 160-pound champions including such fistie immortals as Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons and Stanley Ketchel.

The two judges voted for Dundee and the referee thought Jeby won. Opinion of ringside observers also was divided. The writer gave Dundee five rounds, Jeby four and called one even.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 5.—Higher prices were quoted on the market today for the railroad and industrial favorites, after the general list had been carried slightly lower by the overnight profit taking and professional selling. A $35,000,000 drop in brokers loans reflected the further weeding out of the weak margin trading accounts, while in vestment buying was reported on an improved scale in important quarters.

More than 500 central Ohio veterans of the war with Spain are expected to attend the second annual reunion of the Third Ohio Volunteer Infantry, Spanish-American War at the O. S. and S. O. Home here next Sunday.

Last year's first reunion, held at the National Military Home in Dayton, was attended by about 400 veterans and their families and a larger attendance is anticipated this year from reports of the secretaries of the various companies composing the infantry organization.

The group is made up of the following companies: Company A, Covington; Company B, Springfield; Company C, Gettysburg; Company D, Urbana; Company E, London; Company F, Hillsboro; Company G, Dayton; Company H, Ripley; Company I, Dayton; Company K, Piqua; Company L, Sidney; and Company M, Sabina.

Veterans are expected to start arriving at the institution between 10 and 12:30 o'clock. Dinner will be served in the main dining hall at 1 o'clock. Following dinner, a program to be held in the school auditorium will consist of reports from the secretaries of each company, brief talks, musical selections by the Home's cadet band and girls' octet, a short business session, concluding with a dress parade by the cadet battalion if weather permits.

Possibilities

There is a lad here. . . .
—John 6:9.

To Strangers
In many uncivilized portions of the world, a stranger is received with suspicion and hostility.
This is never true with a Church. Attend Sunday services and see what a welcome you will get.

To Parents
A Marathon runner who sets an even pace and never breaks his stride finishes his race ahead of any competitors who lag and then try to win with a burst of speed. Don't let your children break their stride. Take them to Sunday School.

ANDREW was usually in the background. But it was he who discovered a lad with a lunch which Jesus used to feed a multitude. The biggest asset in the crowd around Jesus was a lad. His lunch, through the power of Jesus, worked wonders.

Boys (and girls, too) are possibilities. To lead them into the presence of Jesus is to release untold power. The world's greatest leaders have been found by the Church.

Work with boys and girls and you work with the material through which God does most of His wonders.

the suffering and death of the Saviour in this manner.
At Mt. Tabor the Sunday School will be at 2:00 p. m. followed by the communion at three. Let every Christian hold these services to be too sacred to be violated by any earthly consideration. Be present.

The church does not offer a panacea for all life's ills; but it can cure enough to make it worth while for you to decide to attend.

He profits most who serves best. No one can serve best until he has inspiration. Church attendance provides inspiration.

Your objections to regular church attendance have been common for thousands of years. Why not try something new and attend regularly? A new slant on life one day in the week makes the week stand up straighter.

The shadow cast by your life is forever behind you. Stop once in a while and see who is standing in your shadow, hoping to be helped by nearness to you. Do not disappoint any one.

The church seeks to provide worship not entertainment. The entertainment part of a service is incidental, nevertheless most church services provide entertainment in worship. A high form of entertainment.

Your particular problem has been solved many times as there have been Sundays, from as many churches. Your particular problem might be answered next Sunday at your particular church. Now wouldn't that help you?

Music hath a charm when properly applied to worship. Much of the world's best music had its inspiration in religion. Your presence at church helps foster good music.

CHAPTER 58
MARY and Martin had finished with their dinner and were sitting on the divan before the open grate fire in the private hotel dining room. Mary was shaking with a cold inward fear of herself—no more was she afraid of Martin. She only feared that her resolve would break before she had accomplished her purpose.

"I don't want to make you buy me, Martin. I had rather settle this on a straight business basis, and we could consider more personal affairs, afterward."

"Of course, my dear. We need not put it that way at all. We shall arrange our little business contract as you wish; but apart from that—entirely—make me the happiest man in the world tonight, darling. Don't you like me much more than you did a year ago, Mary?"

"Oh, yes," she could say truthfully. "So much more than I did a few months ago. You seem like a different man, Martin."

"There you are," he exulted. "I knew that loving you the way I do would bring a response in time. Mary-sweetheart—I shall make you so happy. Don't let yourself doubt me any more, will you? Mary, you are so sweet!" He held her in his arms, close. She let him kiss her, feeling a vague and heavy bewilderment. There was no ecstatic response as when Dick had kissed her—only last evening?

Mary drew away from him, gently, but wanting to cry out and run from the room.

"Don't be afraid of me, darling."

doubted that Dick's love would embrace such a faith in her.

"Won't you try to tell me—now?" he held out his arms for her. She submitted again to his caresses, kissed him with gratitude rather than emotion—all the time, hating herself for her deception. It seemed so absurd that any woman whom a man desired for himself, could so easily persuade him to part with a fortune; while that same man could not be convinced by another man that he would be sensible to invest that fortune.

Yet, Mary reflected that Foster was probably right about it. A man on the edge of failure, into whose business another had trusted an immense fortune, could not hope to confess his imminent failure to that man and yet persuade him to invest more. As it was, Frazier was confident that his other investments were safe, he believed in Mary and he was a good sport. More than all these, he wanted Mary at any price. He recognized that to put her under this little sense of obligation to him, was not a bad idea.

He thought, with amused satisfaction, that for once his fortune was serving him as fortunes should—to get what one wanted most in life.

That evening was one of horror for Mary, and one that she never forgot all her life. She could not continually remind herself that she was deceiving Martin for Martin's own sake, and for the sake of others. But, was she ready to pay the price of all this, if Foster had made the wrong calculations?

Although Foster believed in Mary's ability to accomplish anything she wanted to do, his faith in her success with Frazier was not built upon a rock foundation. Like sand, it shifted with every passing hour of the day and evening.

Mary knew that he would be awaiting the news of her success or failure, as one awaits the passing of the crisis in an illness of a loved one; so she telephoned to him as soon as she had reached home and disposed of Martin Frazier.

Martin's cheek was tucked in her purse. It almost seemed to Mary that the astonishing row of ciphers on it burned through the leather bag and was visible to everyone.

Her conversation with her employer was very brief. "I closed the deal, with everything satisfactory," she informed him.

Even over the wire, his guarded voice tingled with new life and courage at her words. "Splendid! Mary, I appreciate that more than I can tell you. I'll be at the office early in the morning."

He was. But he was quite a different man from the one whom Mary had found there on the previous morning. He was once more master of himself, and of his world.

"You are quite sure that this will save everything for you and the firm?" Mary asked, dubiously. It seemed to her that nothing was sure any more.

"As sure as anything in the world can be, I assure you that if this money of Frazier's doesn't do what I told you it would—the same money would not be his a few months hence, anyway. If the firm cannot be saved by this, nothing is safe. I shall exercise the utmost care and judgment in its use. And I shall not forget this as long as I live. You will not regret what you have done."

"I hope not," was her fervent prayer.

The Theater

The romance of Nancy Carroll, petite red-headed Paramount star and Jack Kirkland, comes to an end on the seventh anniversary of their marriage.

The suit was begun in Nogales, Mexico, and the screen star and her husband are in New York submitting to the jurisdiction of the Sonora Court in Mexico by power of attorney. The divorce will go through in three months.

"Nancy and I have parted the best of friends," says Kirkland. "Father of us wants this to happen but it was unavoidable. We have a great deal to be thankful for and can look back upon some very happy years. We hold each other in admiration and respect. Nancy is genuine, unspoiled and entirely worthy of the place she has won for herself.

"Somewhere along the line, romance just went out of the window. There is nothing dramatic to be told. We both came to the realization that to continue being happy we must respect each other's independence. I believe we shall continue to find a mutual interest—not only in our daughter, but in each other's work—and we sincerely hope that our decision will be looked upon as the right of two human beings to further what they think is the best for their own happiness."

Patsy five and one-half years, will be divided between them, each having her custody six months of the year. No alimony has been discussed. Nancy's salary is $5,000 a week. Kirkland is a playwright and managed his wife's financial affairs.

With all studios keeping eyes peeled for pictures with exploitation angles, Uncle Carl Laemmle thinks he has a scoop in "Massacre of Fort Dearborn," a dramatic story of the development of Chicago which will be ready for release during the World's Fair there next year.

Uncle Carl has a warm spot in his heart for Chicago because he got his start there twenty-five years ago. Officials will cooperate in the picture and D. F. Kelley, president of the World's Fair Commission, will open up the records and the history of the city to the film makers.
